INT. MONTE CARLO CASINO, THE PRESENT - NIGHT

A roulette game with a HANDSOME MAN, late 20s, tuxedo-clad Latin James Bond, places bets.

Several PLAYERS sit around the ROULETTE TABLE.

He spots a WAITRESS, orders a cocktail, motioning "shaken, not stirred".

The waitress, 20s, in a "French Maid" outfit, acknowledges the order, leaves.

Handsome Man turns toward the other PLAYERS and smiles. They nod back.

INT. CASINO - CONTINUOUS

LULU LANE, a beautiful Brazilian-American heiress, late 20s, dressed to the nines, glides down a red staircase towards the Handsome Man.

He takes out a pack of expensive, European CIGARETTES, lights one with his gold-plated LIGHTER.

Handsome Man closes his eyes and blows SMOKE into the air. The waitress arrives with a large MARTINI.

His eyes still closed, motions to her with his cigarette, to put his drink in the holder at the edge of the table.

INT. ROULETTE TABLE - CONTINUOUS

Lulu slinks towards the roulette table but stumbles as a guest with a shiny BLACK SHOE smooths out a wrinkle in the RED VELVET CARPET.

The motion causes her HIGH HEELS to catch on the Carpet and she falls on the waitress, just as she hands the Handsome Man his drink.

The Martini flies into the middle of the velvet BETTING AREA, spills liquor on the chips and other players.

Lulu and the waitress fall to the floor, right at the feet of JAMIE CABO, mid-20's, Lulu's chauffeur, standing at the side of the table.
