

Implementation Management

Leading change, ensuring success

Implementation management guides you through times of change and ensures your success.

New IT systems often bring layers of complexity to a business, crossing internal 'silos' and making it difficult to meet everyone's needs. Yet, streamlined processes are essential to achieving business goals.

Solution

We use proven methodologies and business intelligence to understand your processes. Then, we develop a transition roadmap to guide process changes and set implementation priorities. The resulting processes are harmonized and streamlined to meet compliance requirements while unlocking value throughout your organization.

Considerations

If you're ready to implement business critical IT systems, Epista's Implementation Management service can help by providing comprehensive project management and execution aligned with your business needs. To do this, we combine business insight, compliance expertise, and proven technical capabilities, unlike simply accepting approaches pushed by vendors or going forward alone without the required subject matter expertise.

With Epista, you can:

Rely on information rather than intuition:

A process review and gap analysis give you a detailed understanding of current operations.

Be confident in the clear path ahead:

Process redesign and transition planning give you a clear direction for changes.

Know exactly what to do:

Specification of IT system requirements give you a comprehensive set of recommendations.
