

7 Discipleship Emphases

Ten x 10

THE TEN 10 COLLABORATION

Grow spiritually.

Since you can't take people where you haven't gone yourself, TENx10 starts with focusing on your faith as a youth leader. Through TENx10's tools, training, and support, you'll grow in self-awareness and cultivate personal and communal habits that deepen your faith so you can help others deepen theirs.

Lead change.

To truly shift from a faith that matters little to a faith that changes everything, discipleship efforts must extend beyond a community's youth ministry. That's why a critical focus of TENx10 is equipping you to work with others to lead change within your larger community.

Train mentors.

No matter how hard you try, you cannot form teenagers' faith alone. Through TENx10, you'll learn how to recruit and train adult volunteers to accompany teenagers and model Jesus-centered identity, belonging, and purpose.

Explore young people's purpose.

Teenagers question if they can make a difference. TENx10 believes they're called to play their part in God's story. Through this Discipleship Emphasis, you will learn how to provide ongoing service and justice opportunities that affirm young people's giftedness and call.

Center teenagers' identity in Christ.

Young people are constantly asking, "Who am I?" TENx10 equips you to offer them Jesus-centered answers that root their identity in who they are in Christ through prayer, Scripture, and the foundations of their faith.

Nurture young people's belonging.

Young people wonder, "Where do I fit?" The rate at which teenagers are abandoning faith communities suggests they don't think they fit there. TENx10's tools, training, and support enable you to cultivate a community-wide culture where young people are seen, heard, and valued. Through this, teenagers will learn their stories matter to the church—and that the church matters to their stories.

Equip diverse families.

Families are usually the primary spiritual influencers in the lives of young people. By developing an intentional strategy, your discipleship efforts will continue throughout the week as families of all shapes and sizes intentionally grow closer to God and each other.
