

Increase your ARPU by 5% in just 3 months

Offer a secure online experience with a fully integrable, white label product from Whalebone.

Proven 50% adoption rate

Customers don't need to install any software on their devices. Everything is activated remotely. The service is easy to sell, activate and bundle.

Product launch in 1 to 3 months

Our product is designed for Telcos. We secure the fastest time to market, so the product can start generating revenue as quickly as possible.

White label product with add-ons

The individual user portal includes a personal threat profile and security settings. Customers can also benefit from alerting and reporting features.

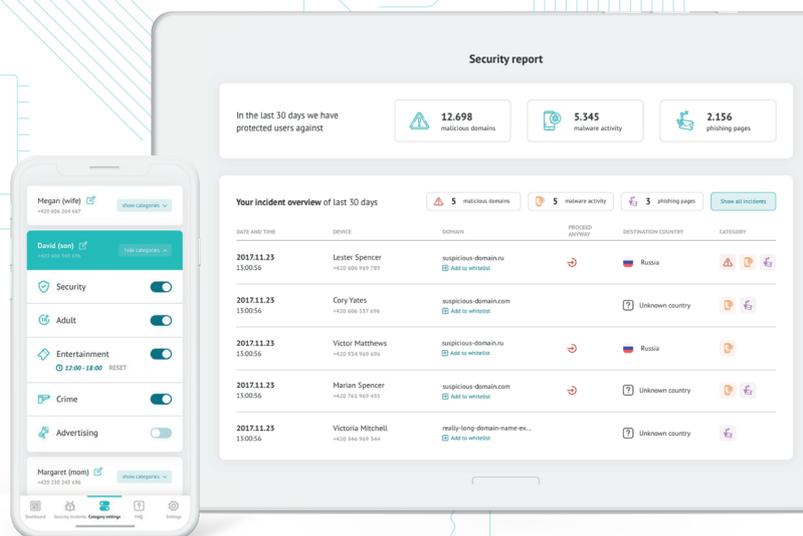

Marketing support provided

We offer free consulting, helping you to select the right go-to market strategy while engaging and onboarding your customers to maximize your success.

Provide users with instant protection on the network level

Almost 90% of cyber attacks use an internet connection.

Whalebone runs on the network level and protects online users.

Protect all online devices

All users' devices are protected with one account. From smartphones to servers and devices within IoT. Every online activity is secured, including your browser, messenger, email or text messages.

Offer useful add-ons

- ✓ Parental control
- ✓ Enterprise network security
- ✓ Content control
- ✓ Off-Net security

Embrace threat intelligence

By using machine learning techniques and statistics, we can detect possible online threats in the network every second. By successfully avoiding false positives, we instantly pass the data on to resolvers.

Seamless user experience

The product is applicable to all connected devices. Protect your users with remote activation without installing any endpoint on their devices. Users will enjoy a smooth online experience with no disruptions.

We are satisfied with the results. Whalebone offered flexible cooperation and a compact product. We managed to lead end users to a 68% adoption rate. After being strongly motivated by the success, we are now preparing a second project targeting business customers.

Peter Novak
Manager Professional Data Services, O2

Cut out CAPEX ————— White label product ————— High profit margin

Request a full presentation

Peter Pálež
Business Development Manager, Whalebone

+421 905 47 33 44
peter.pales@whalebone.io

