More about Grace

Grace has a Master's degree in Business Administration from the University of Leeds, UK, specializing in International Business, where she graduated with merit. With over 12 years of experience as a Professional Certified Coach (PCC, CBC™) and management consultant for business leaders, she applies coaching skills as a powerful method to deliver comprehensive and active training. A certified consultant in Neuro-linguistic programming (NLP), Harrison Assessment and the Belbin Team Role Assessment, she is also a Certified Professional of 'Science of Well-Being' by Yale University in the US.

In addition to enjoying her mindfulness practice, Grace also loves to do swimming training, swimming 3km every two days to increase the level of resilience in her body and mind

client testimonials

Grace Park has been an integral partner of our organization in facilitating our corporate programs particularly in areas around management of organizational transition and change in the Asia-Pacific region. Grace brings a wealth of global experiences to the table and the necessary delivery skills that have enabled workshops to be not only relevant and engaging on the day, but also highly successful beyond. Grace and her team are highly aware of our diverse cultural and language needs and are able to communicate culturally appropriate material in multiple languages – a factor that has certainly helped accelerate and embed change within our organization. We will be looking to partner with GPC again on projects in the future.

– Senior Medical Operation Manager, Pacific Rim, Bristol-Myers Squibb

A very pleasant coaching experience with Grace. She asked thought-provoking questions to help me recognize my blind spots and boost my confidence during the coach session. I enjoy her coaching and would like to recommend it!

– Senior Vice President, Human Resources PRC, Bank of America Merrill Lynch

The workshop provided by Grace went far beyond our expectations. Prior to the workshop, Grace insisted on understanding our needs and has consequently adapted her session to our requirements, which were more about the practical & down-to-earth aspects of a chemical industry. With her dynamism, her professionalism, her international experience and her impressive communication skills, she got the whole audience completely interested and motivated by the workshop. An internal evaluation has rated her performance to 93%. Therefore, our organization highly recommends Grace for any training/workshop related to management within an international context.

– Director, SNF China

The workshop provided by Grace went really well in reminding us of the fundamentals of the value proposition, not only thanks to the well prepared contents but also exciting work experience and best practices. With her dynamism, her professionalism, her international experience and her impressive communication skills, she got the whole audience completely interested and motivated by the workshop. This workshop is definitely the one that marketing managers of our organization should take, and I absolutely recommend Grace as the instructor.
