Dealer's PartnerView Agreement

Dealer's Name

As part of my account relationship with Rocco Building Supplies, LLC, I have the use of Rocco's online order system, PartnerView. I understand that through this system I can access my account's net pricing, current product and inventory information, as well as my account's current and past invoices, quotes and other accounting documents. I also understand that I can submit quotes and place orders using PartnerView, and that the "Terms and Conditions of Sale" per Rocco's account application apply to all these PartnerView transactions.

All information I gain from the use of PartnerView shall be regarded by me as strictly confidential and held in trust by me. I will not disclose this confidential information to any other person or company, now or at any time in the future.

I understand that, when an employee who has access to my PartnerView account terminates employment with my company, I will promptly change my company's PartnerView password to restrict access to only those persons who are currently employed by my company and who are authorized to use my company's PartnerView account.

The purpose of confirming the agreement of this document is to protect Rocco Building Supplies, LLC from irreparable harm that could be incurred through unauthorized disclosure of account and/or confidential information. I understand that failure to abide by the terms of this agreement may forfeit my access to and use of PartnerView in the future.

I acknowledge that I have read and understand the contents of this "Dealer's PartnerView Agreement" and sign it with the intent to be bound by it.
