Trust Stamp Receives Notice of Allowance from the US Patent and Trademark Office

Reports strong traction with 22 banks enrolled in paid pilot programs over the past three months

January 20, 2023: Trust Stamp (Nasdaq: IDAI), the Privacy-First Identity Company™ providing AI-powered trust and identity services used globally across multiple sectors, today announced that it has received a Notice of Allowance from the United States Patent Office for its Privacy-First Identity Company™ trademark.

Trust Stamp launched its low-code Privacy-First Identity solution for banks and financial institutions in 2022 and is now seeing significant traction, with 22 banks (with total assets exceeding $50B) enrolled in paid pilot programs over the past three months.

Trust Stamp's accelerating traction with banking institutions parallels its 2022 release of a range of Privtech Certified™ identity products to empower government agencies to balance safe and efficient interaction with digital users with minimized intrusion into the user's privacy.

"Trust Stamp's mission is to accelerate secure financial and societal inclusion, on and offline, for everyone, everywhere, by giving them the means to establish their identity using universally accessible privacy-first products and services," said Gareth Genner CEO & Co-founder of Trust Stamp. "Our mission's emphasis on privacy resonates with multiple industries, and this trademark further emphasizes our commitment to making our mission a reality."
