$BIXIE is a community oriented De-Fi project that is building an eco-system of DApp utilities. The base contract is a novel gas optimized 0.8.12 dividends contract which pays out a share of the trading volume as rewards to its holders.

The BIXIE token grants holders access to our aggregated utility-dashboard and provides access to upcoming utilities released on the platform.

BIXIE
Whitepaper and Manifesto

"The ninth son of the dragon.
Horns on the head, wings on the back,
Walks on land and swims in the ocean.

Keeper of wealth and luck,
Ward me from evil.
Bring me good fortune."

Opening Remarks
Our Mission

With projects overpromising and underdelivering, dressing up contracts and promising long term utility in the short term, deceiving truly honest community members, and leaving a void for authenticity in the crypto space. The space is now oversaturated with fraudulent projects that provide no long-term value to the community.

Most developers do not act with malicious intentions. There are still many good developers creating genuine projects with the same sincerity and transparency that contributed to the early success of the industry. However, we cannot overlook the fact that people are being misguided and misled.

We call for a return to the glory days of the De-Fi space, and in order to do so, we believe that it is incumbent on every participant in this crazy game we take part in - to take responsibility, and to promote accountability on the part of all parties involved.

From a place of selflessness and integrity, BIXIE will be uniting the De-Fi community and restore faith to the hearts of all those who believe in the potential of cryptocurrency.

It's impossible to predict the future, but we've all probably had moments when we regret not making a different choice. This might be one of those moments. We don't want to look back and think "I could have, should have, or would have.

Trust, accountability and integrity will prevail.

Decentralization works, but only with everyone's co-operation.

Take our hand in faith and walk with us.

Mythology

Historical Background

Bixie is a mythical hybrid in Chinese mythology – composed of a lion and a dragon, it is an influential and auspicious creature for wealth, and is said to have a voracious appetite exclusively for gold, and jewels. Traditionally to the Chinese, the Bixie were thought to possess mystical powers capable of drawing wealth from all directions, and especially helpful for those who are going through a bad year.

Bixie appear to have their origin in the Han Dynasty (206 BC–220 AD) where they are first found mentioned. It is depicted as a powerful, winged beast with the body of a lion and the head of a dragon.

The word Pixiu, interpreted as meaning "fierce beast" and also "brave warrior", was used as a symbol on battle flags and banners.

Bixie crave the smell of gold and silver and like to bring their masters money in their mouth.

According to lore, the male of the species is in charge of wealth. He is said to go out into the world to search for gold and other forms of wealth. When it returns to its master's house, he takes the role of guarding the riches. The female of the species wards off evil by siphoning off demonic energy and converting it into gold. It is also believed that she have the ability to assist anyone who has offended their karmic balance.

Bixie – head of a Chinese dragon, body of a lion and with a pair of feathered wings.

Tokenomics

Bixie is a community utility token aimed at becoming a passive income ecosystem through our in-house utilities. It also serves as an access token for upcoming utilities and releases that benefit token holders.

The tokenomics of Bixie involve the distribution of dividends to qualifying holders with a token balance exceeding the pre-determined threshold of 3 Trillion BIXIE Tokens.

The ETH dividends are processed in the order that the transactions are logged on-chain from earliest to latest in revolving fashion. Accordingly the higher the trading volume, the greater the value of the dividends, and the higher the frequency they are paid out.

In addition, the dividend distribution is something that we plan on increasing in the future, once stability has been established in the chart, and there is less volatility in the price action.

The BTX Reserve, to be described in further detail the following section, is a core element in our ecosystem, and is the Proof of Reserve of the BIXIE Token. The Reserve is composed of all revenue generated from the BIXIE ecosystem, combined with transaction fees, and has the sole aim of ensuring the longevity of the BIXIE Token - whether this is achieved through strategic buybacks, or additions to the liquidity pool. We welcome all innovative ideas that we can come together and agree on as a community to benefit the project.

BTX Ecosystem

Reserve

Financial Logic

The BTX Reserve is a collection of cryptocurrencies that is held by the BIXIE project for the purpose of investing and stabilizing the value of the underlying BIXIE Token. Revenue generated from the BTX ecosystem and transaction fees are directed towards building the Reserve.

FaaS

Gamified Staking DApp

As part of the BTX ecosystem, we will be employing farming-as-a-service (CFaaS) as a business model where BIXIE will offer to help others farm or stake their cryptocurrencies by providing them with the appropriate staking pool and DApp platform, in exchange for a small fee for services rendered. Native Pool included.
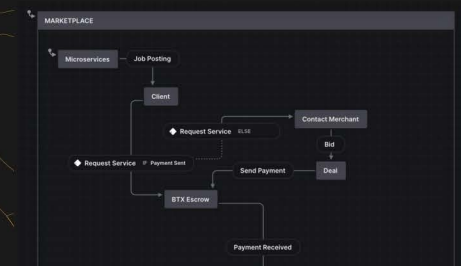

Distribution

Protocol Longevity

Reserve funds are deployed in strategic buybacks and towards strengthening the liquidity pool of the BIXIE Token. Volume generated from this process catalyzes dividend distribution and ensures project funds aemain within the protocol and help to maintain momentum and reward holders.

Governance

What is a DAO?

A DAO, or decentralized autonomous organization, is an online-based organization that exists and operates with no single leader or governing body. DAOs are run by code written on a blockchain like Ethereum (ETH) and are owned and operated by the people who use them.

There are many different types of DAOs, but they all have one thing in common: they are decentralized, meaning that decisions about the organization's future are decided by the collective group and not a single individual.

This decentralization is what makes DAOs promising, as it theoretically removes the possibility of corruption or manipulation by a single entity. Smart contracts (and not people) execute the terms and conditions of the organization, making them incredibly efficient and resilient to change.

BTX DAO

Worldwide, DAOs currently have over $10.5 billion locked in different treasuries with over 1.7 million token holders, according to data from DeepDAO.

The BTX DAO is a limited-membership co-op that will be accessible only to holders that own above a determined threshold of BIXIE.

The organization is a self-governing entity, and will be in responsible for the regulation and direction of funds within the BIXIE Ecosystem and Reserve. The native BIXIE Token will be translated into voting power within the organisation, and will be used by members to vote on proposals and adjudicate.

A selection of potential proposals are listed below.

MARKETING

Self explanatory. Funds to carry out marketing intitatives. Proposals may take the form of suggestions for potential Twitter / Youtube / Telegram influencers to be onboarded to expand outreach.

BUYBACKS

The accumulation of reserve funds in a specific currency (ETH/BTC/Stablecoin) that may be mobilized at Council discretion to maintain project health and price stability.

LIQUIDITY

Additional liquidity to be injected into the liquidity pool of the native token $BIXIE in the interest of stability, partnership, listings, strategic investor onboarding.

CEX LISTING

Suggestions to reach out to a particular CEX for listing. In the event of exchange stipulations changes in tax distribution or pooling of native tokens may be required

ONBOARDING

Onboarding of additional talent to assist in an ongoing initiatiive or provide guidance with regards to the strategic vision of the Foundation.

STAKING/FAAS

Staking or Farming as a Service – proposals may outline an architecture for incorporating the native token into a staking pool or highlight an instrument that may be a potential target for treasury investment. Earnings to be distributed evenly according to token holdings.

BTX DAO Proposals: Prospective ideas

Governance

Self Sustaining

A key feature of the BTX DAO is that it is autonomous, meaning that it can operate without team intervention. We envision the BTX DAO to be both self-governing and self-sustaining, meaning it can continue to exist and operate even if the original creators are no longer involved.

This is another advantage of using smart contracts. They ensure the DAO continues to follow its original rules even if the roles of its members may change.

Fully Decentralized

One perk of blockchain technology is that it is censorship-proof. This removes restrictions that traditional crowdfunding sites might otherwise impose on individuals or businesses. The BTX DAO encourages public participation in the project as it leaves all decision-making processes to be made by its participants. This allows participants to have a sense of noteworthiness and let them be in charge of making their own decisions.

INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO

Proposals may outline a project that may be a potential target for Treasury investment. Earnings to be distributed evenly across holders / DAO participants according to the scheme indicated in given proposal.

MAINSTREAM MARKETING

Expansion of marketing efforts beyond the traditional de-fi social channels. This may involve platforms with a greater reach outside of the crypto community and may include press outlets, print / digital publications, advertisements and commercials, billboards, sponsorships etc.

PARTNERSHIPS

Partnerships may be proposed as long as they can be argued to be in service of strategic / operational, technical or creative / production related objective of the Foundation and the BIXIE community.

MULTI CHAIN BRIDGING

Bridge cross chain to increase accessibility and reach beyond the Ethereum network, creation of staking pools on another chain.

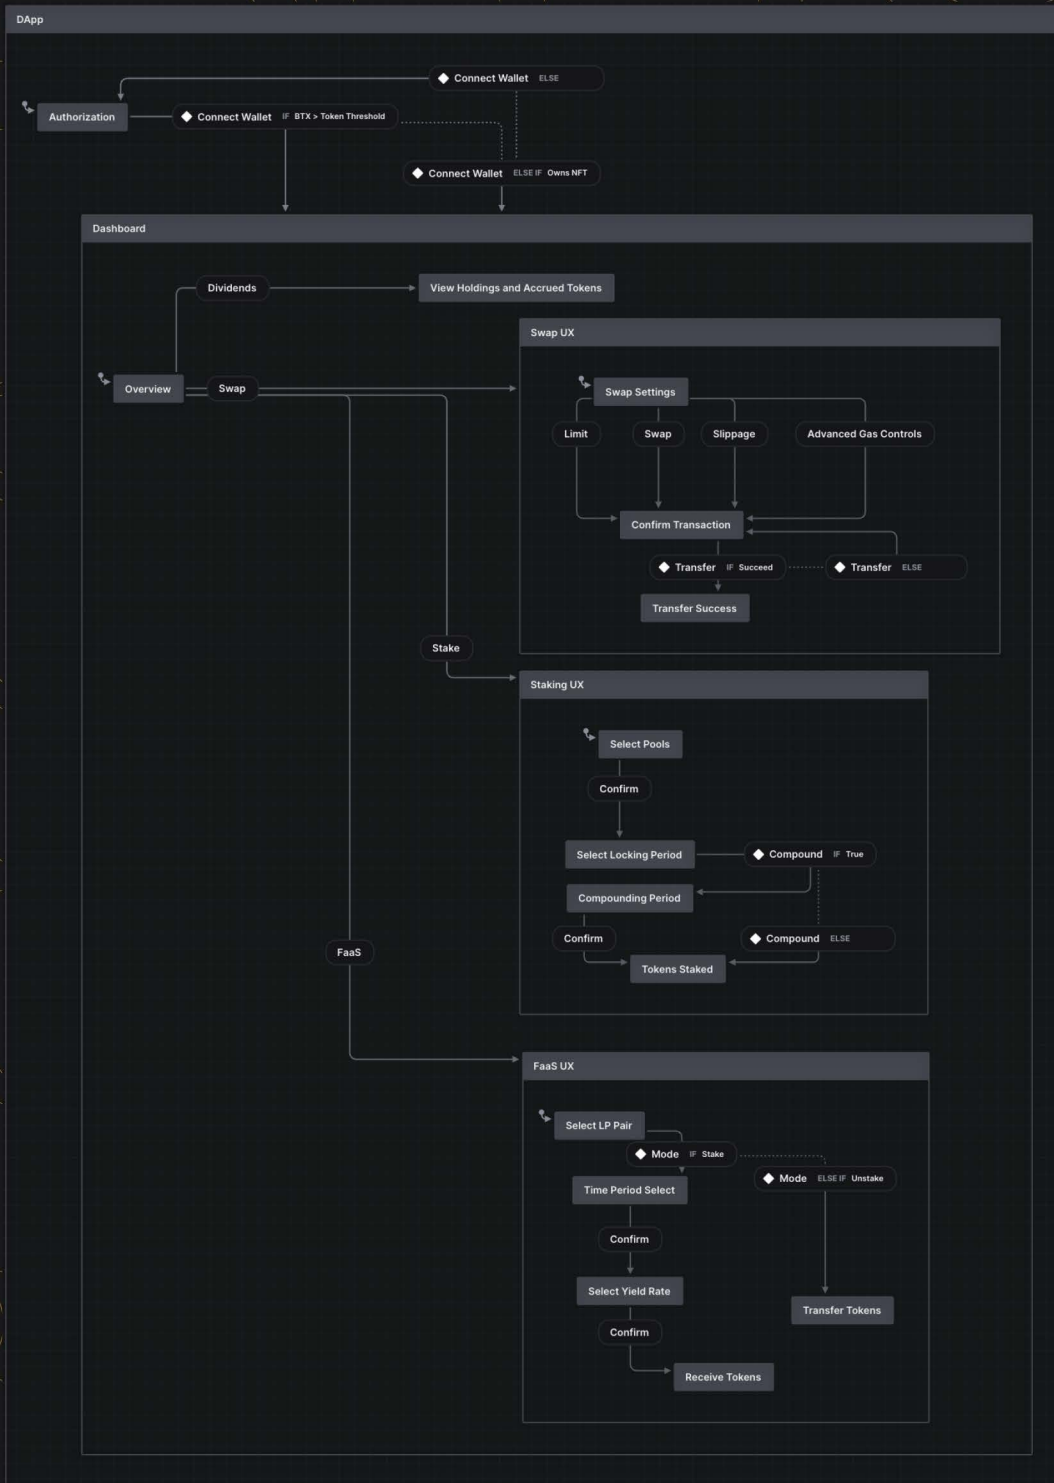

TOKEN BURN

A proposal for a token burn or a crowd-funding event in order to amend distribution, or create a deflationary incentive by some proposed mechanism involving the native $BIXIE token.

REAL ESTATE / IRL OFFICE

Our vision is for the organisation to be self-sustaining and financially successful in the long-term. A time may come that necessitates a fully staffed physical presence of the BIXIE Token.

In Development

This timeline is an overview of the immediate goals that will help us build out the product milestones in the next page. As a process oriented team, our focus is on creating the methodologies that best ensure delivery of top quality products- our workflow processes will be documented, and shared with the community if possible, so that we may help our supporters grow with us.

To ensure continuous success, our operations strategist is developing a criteria for creating and assessing key performance indicators. As many aspects of our organization as possible will be made public to our top holders so that they can contribute their unique visions, strategies, processes and methods to the growth of the Bixie community.

Our highly talented team has extensive experience having been a part of the DeFi space from its nascency. We have developers with years of industry experience, working at world-class enterprises, and designers that are uniquely creative both technically and aesthetically - this you can see first hand.

NFT Minting
Exemption Pass

The BTX NFT will act as an exemption pass, allowing those who do not meet the minimum token threshold to receive the equivalent dividend rewards as a max wallet. The funds generated through the minting process and royalties received from transactions will be used for liquidity injections to our native $BIXIE token.

Our priority is on quality and not quantity, which requires time, hard work and dedication. To ensure the integrity and quality of development, reward the hard work of our team, and maintain a strong community, our products are going to be accessible to holders above our designated threshold and Exemption Pass NFT Holders.

These products will be developed in the latest technologies, maintaining industry standard for both design and development. We are committed to user experience and this is reflected in our process. State Machine diagrams are combined with Figma prototypes, reviewed under the framework of our design system, and then coded in the latest and greatest tools, first and foremost being React.js, Ethers.js, Three.js, Node.js, and of course, Solidity.

Transparency is our priority, and as such progress and strategy will be made public and available for review, with inputs from our DAO being integrated at our discretion.

Community

Faith is an essential element that can bring people together and provide strength and purpose in difficult times. Having been a part of the SHIBA community in its nascency, I have seen firsthand the power of faith and community.

In crypto, and especially in the altcoin space where we preside, more than anything it is the self-organization of the community, in tandem of the tehcnical innovation that is the driving forces behind progress in the crypto space.

Faith can give us hope and motivation to keep moving forward, even when the road ahead seems uncertain. With faith, we can inspire one another to be our best selves and work towards a brighter future for all of us. Let us embrace the power of faith and use it to bring our community closer together and make a positive impact on the world.

Engage with and support the Bixie community. Practice kindness towards others, as you never know what difficulties they may be facing.

Increase liquidity by adding liquidity pairs to your Bixie holdings.

Spread the word about Bixie to at least 3 people you know. It may positively impact their lives.

Contribute to the Bixie community in anyway you can, such as creating Memes, developing utilities, moderating communities, leading the raids room or sharing educational information on social media.

Share your thoughts, ideas, and criticisms with the community, as your voice is an important part of the Bixie development.

Remember, BIXIE is within each one of us.

With love from the BIXIE Team,
Thank you for your support.
