Holland's Blade Rummer is a creative, international collaboration between Reservoir Distillery and select Jamaican rum distilleries. Once we've imported our rum barrel, we let our blended whiskey soak in that sugarcane sunshine for an additional 24 months to create a truly unique take on a Reservoir bourbon. We definitely think this addition to our Holland's limited time lineup is "jumping with the irie vibes!"

Provenance is paramount to us. Our grains are all Virginia-grown and come from within 45 miles of our distillery. We've acquired our own white oak which is crafted into barrels by a local mill and cooperage. These casks are returned to us with our signature alligator-char. The char inside our barrel imparts deep color and unparalleled flavors into our whiskeys.

Age does not equal maturity when it comes to whiskey. A balanced, nuanced whiskey is achieved over time as barrels oxidize. With our small barrel program, the quality of the distillate is supremely important when determining time with the wood. Every stage of production shows our dedication to time — from our open top fermentation process, which can take up to 11 days to utilize every flavor our yeast can provide, to our slow pot still double distillation, where depending upon barrel size, our distillate is narrow and precise.

Whether the spirit enters our large or small barrel program, each cask is monitored for progress. There is no set time for our maturation process. Every barrel is hand-tested to ensure it is fully developed and time to be bottled. Our techniques are not revolutionary, but our opinion on readiness is.
