Introducing our noala programs: an indirect Speech and Language Therapy approach, coaching parents on how to develop their child's communication skills.

Progress is monitored online by your dedicated speech therapist, and discussed live during short sessions. Your noala therapist is always available for additional strategies and advice.

Don't take our word for it, here is what our community say

“My child found it very enjoyable and found it helpful in adapting to real life. My child has demonstrated improvements in his understanding and I now have been able to toilet train him. In the most recent videos, he was making phrases e.g. bubble bath, kickball.”

"I have seen some good progress in her communication. For the first time, she told me her plans with her dad! She's never done this before."

A, mom of 4 year old, based in UK on Communication Boost

"The program is really, really helpful, and showing me how to understand how to help my son. He's starting to use the words we are teaching. These strategies really work."

O, mom of 3 year old son, based in UK on Communication Boost

"The Noala method works so well for our son, who's 7 and can definitely struggle to sit still for very long! We kept finding we would strike out with structured therapy sessions, especially remote ones, during which his attention would wander - the result was that everyone would get frustrated and he wouldn't benefit. We love that Noala is designed to be parent-driven, so we can just work the exercises into our lives - just over breakfast while playing board games, whenever. It's also really nice that it doesn't feel like a task for our son - he already has so much homework, and activities - we can slip in the tips Noala gives us without him really even noticing."

“My child has been talking a lot since joining the program. He is doing well with talking. In the recording sent to my therapist, my child is formulating long sentences of 6 plus words.”

The mother reported that she had an SEN meeting and is very grateful that she had support from Noala while she waited for additional support from NHS.

“We think silly stories is a great game, so much fun and my daughter loves saying her stories on there!”

V, mom of 6 year old daughter, based in UK on Speech Sounds Success

“He is putting words together now which he wasn’t doing at the start of the program. He is talking a lot more and it’s a massive improvement. My journey with noala has been great! Really well structured and communicated! You can feel like you are included and I could introduce the topics to real-life situations.”

"For our online speech sounds assessment, both my daughter and I enjoyed it. Chloe, the speech therapist, was lovely."

V, mom of 6 year old daughter, based in UK on Speech Sounds Success

"I'm so glad I found you, I just want to help my son, and this is an affordable option."

J, dad of 4 year old son, based in UK

"We had a wonderful time with Ilana. She was so kind and professional. She was able to get my child's attention more than expected."
