Welcome to our website! You have found us, and now we want to make sure that we can find you too. In order to make this search not impossible, we process personal data from you. This privacy statement describes the personal data we process and how we process it. You will also learn about your rights, how long we keep your data, and who has access to our data.

If you don't feel like reading the whole privacy statement, we will make it as easy as possible for you (because that's how we roll). Here's a brief summary of what we do with your personal data:

All personal data we receive is printed out and hung above our bed. We love to admire it. Due to the current privacy laws and regulations, our rooms are now covered in unreadable and incomprehensible characters. We take extremely good care of your personal information. Only we understand what is written there. Additionally, we are very attached to this information, so we will never sell it. If you leave us, we will delete all your data. We mean it from the bottom of our hearts, you'll understand.

If you want to know more about the processing of your personal data, please read on.

Which personal data is processed?

We would like to know as much as possible about you. Unfortunately, the law is so strict that we are not allowed to store everything about you. It's a shame. We would have loved to approach you with a cool name and joke about all the criminal offenses you've committed. Instead, we adhere to the law and only process the necessary data.

- Company name;
- First and last name;

We process this personal data because you have provided it to us on your own initiative, it was obtained within the framework of the service provision, made known to us by third parties, or became known through public sources. We also collect personal data when you visit our website and fill out the contact form on our website.

What is the purpose of processing personal data?
