EXPLORE THE GORGE

regional wineries

“A WORLD OF WINE IN FORTY MILES”

That’s the motto for the Columbia Gorge Winegrowers. America’s most unique wine region is located less than an hour east of Portland, Oregon. Straddling the mighty Columbia River, the Columbia Gorge Growing Region includes the fertile soils of both Washington and Oregon. From the marine influenced climate of Underwood Mountain to the arid land of the Eastern Gorge, from Albarino to Zinfandel, the grapes and wines of this unique region offer a spectacular selection from sweet whites to luscious reds.

The region’s wineries span the Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area through 40 miles of peaceful, open roads running through double mountain views of Mt. Hood and Mt. Adams. We urge you to explore the many wineries that sit just a scenic drive from Skamania Lodge.

ARTISAN BREWING BOOM

Like many cities across the country, Stevenson, Hood River, and the surrounding towns are experiencing something of a craft beer boom. That’s all the better when it comes time to quench your post-adventure thirst. And because many of these breweries are up close and personal to the great outdoors, you won’t have to hold on long from the time you step off the trail to the time you have that first beer in hand.

There’s something for everyone at the multitude of breweries in Hood River and beyond. From crisp, citrusy IPAs to smooth and chocolatey porters, our local brewmasters have you covered. Many of the tap rooms are also spacious and offer family-friendly non-alcoholic options, so everyone can get a refresher.
