

ADVANCED TRAINING PLAN

How to use this plan

This 14-week training plan is for experienced runners who have completed a marathon before. The plan assumes you will run five times a week. On rest days, you might also supplement your training with cross training or strength work.

The days of the week shown are not fixed and only proposed, so you can complete your sessions at the times that suit you best.

NEW FOR 2024!

We've added tips on how to boost your motivation, nail your nutrition, fundraise like a pro and celebrate successes big and small! The plan also features easy recipes, playlists to try and podcast ideas to help you make the most of your rest days. Enjoy!

Getting your nutrition strategy right

Considering your nutrition strategy is a key component of completing a marathon. As your training runs become longer, you'll start to rely more on carbohydrate to fuel your run. Since our bodies can only store a finite amount of carbohydrate, it's really important we consume it during the event to keep our energy stores topped up and prevent us from 'hitting the wall'.

Using energy drinks and gels are the perfect way to support you throughout your training for the Brighton Marathon and the event itself. They provide carbohydrates and electrolytes to enhance your hydration and help maintain your performance during prolonged endurance exercise – exactly what you need to run a marathon.

Consider training with a bottle belt

The Brighton Marathon is organised by London Marathon Events. Please consider using a London Marathon Events \(LME\) bottle belt to help you perform at your best as you train for the Brighton Marathon.

The bottle belts are part of LME's long-term commitment to reduce its impact on the environment – and they also give you the freedom to hydrate whenever and wherever you wish!

On Event Day, you won't need to stop as often at busy Drinks Stations, helping you have a smooth event experience, while reducing the amount of waste produced in the process.

How to hit your fundraising target

If you're fundraising as part of your Brighton Marathon challenge, we've included tips throughout this plan to help you hit your target.

Now's the perfect time to get your official fundraising page set up. Pick your cause, add a profile picture and the story of why you're fundraising for your charity, and get sharing!

You can also get a QR code from your official fundraising page and print it – and details of who you're running for – on flyers and business cards. Hand them out wherever you go to inspire some random acts of kindness. You could even put it on a badge on your running kit!

We know fundraising can sometimes feel daunting, but your family, friends and colleagues are sure to step up and support you as you take on this amazing goal. Research shows a whopping 86 per cent of people almost always donate when they get a request to support a charity event, so don't be worried about asking!

EASY RUNS

(less than 60 per cent maximum effort)

During an easy run, you should feel relaxed. You should be breathing comfortably and capable of holding a conversation throughout the run. If you're a new runner nothing may feel easy at first – slow down, walk if necessary and control your effort.

STEADY RUNS

(60–70 per cent maximum effort)

These are the bread and butter of your training – the 'miles in the bank'. Steady runs build the base that is the foundation for the rest of your training. Conversations are still possible at this pace but only in shorter sentences.

TEMPO RUNS

(70–80 per cent maximum effort)

Running at tempo pace is great for improving your running economy. It's a sustained cruise pace that requires concentration. You will find these runs slightly uncomfortable as you try to run faster, but they are worth it.

LONG RUNS

These are a real focus of the plan. They should be used to develop strength and endurance but also to practise your target marathon pace and control. Long runs are shown in both time and distance.

INTERVAL RUNS

These involve high-intensity periods of faster running interspersed with periods of recovery or rest. Having rest between bouts of harder running means you can maintain the quality and pace of the effort.

FARTLEK

The word 'Fartlek' comes from the Swedish meaning 'speed play' and Fartlek training is just that – rather than running a set distance in a set time, you 'play' with different running paces and distances until you feel you've completed the workout.

HILL RUNS

Running uphill will work your muscles in a different way to flat road running, so to avoid injury you need to let your body adjust. Your legs will feel more tired than usual after hill running, so allow them time to recover before your next session.
