DEAR KESEM FRIENDS & FAMILY,

We are proud to present our 2019 Donor Impact Report showcasing what your support, along with all of us working together in this remarkable community, has done for so many young people and their families.

You are helping children build resilience, find friendship, and regain a sense of belonging and confidence. Thank you for being there for the kids who need us the most.

You are investing in training college student leaders in critical thinking, collaboration and program management skills. Thank you for empowering this new generation of empathetic and emotionally mature leaders.

You are providing families hope during a difficult time in their lives. Thank you for ensuring that free programs and services are offered to children impacted by a parent's cancer through summer camps and a continuum of touch points throughout the year.

Kesem relies on voluntary donations for 100% of our income, and in 2019, our supporters generously invested $12 million in our mission, delivered through an operational model that has proven to be effective, efficient, replicable and scalable. Over the past year, Kesem provided 10,266 children with free, supportive, life-changing experiences through programs led by 125 college chapters in 44 states.

Our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion continues, as Kesem expands the communities we support and work with and strives for equity in our programs. We introduced new outreach and engagement efforts to diversify the composition of our student leaders, camp volunteers, and campers. We also translated many of our marketing and educational materials into Spanish and added resources to address camper family questions.

As we embark on Kesem's 20th anniversary, I want to thank Jane Saccaro for accelerating our growth as CEO over the past eight years and for continuing her service to Kesem as Executive Advisor. I would also like to express my great appreciation to Emily Brakebill for her passion and unwavering commitment as our previous Chair of the Board of Directors. I am incredibly proud to work alongside all of our devoted and deeply engaged Board members as we step into Kesem's next decade.

The years ahead are full of promise! I look forward to celebrating with you, expanding our Kesem community and shining a light on our life-changing mission.

With sincere gratitude,

BEN CORNWELL

Chair, Board of Directors

*AS REPORTED BY PARENT SURVEY (2019)

As the person with cancer I feel a great pressure to relieve stress on family members whenever possible. I can't tell my son that every thing will be easy but I can help provide tools for him to learn to love all aspects of life. Camp Kesem is forever in my heart as a safe fun place that my son can go to learn and live and love without judgment.

OUR FUTURE

2020 MARKS KESEM'S 20TH ANNIVERSARY.

Through your generosity, Kesem is able to deepen our efforts to support all 5 million children impacted by a parent's cancer. Beyond the immediate needs your gift supports, you're playing a critical role in the cultivation of a new generation of leaders. Young people—who are transformed by their Kesem experience—are cultivating the awareness, compassion, empathy, and commitment to building a community that reflects love and respect. We believe that Kesem is a vessel to shine light into the lives of everyone we come across, and we are so grateful to have you as a part of our family. Thank you for your light. Shine On.

Founded in 2000, five young leaders at Hillel at Stanford were inspired by their personal experiences to create a unique space to bring together and support children impacted by a parent's cancer. Soon other young leaders across the country, sparked by what our founders created, committed to bring this mission to their communities. Today, nearly 6,000 student leaders are helping to transform the lives of more than 10,000 children across the country—creating spaces, experiences, and services that ensure every child we impact can navigate the realities of a parent's cancer diagnosis while feeling safe, loved, and respected.

We are grateful to be a part of the stories of the children we serve. Honored for the role we have played in their journey. Proud of how we have all taken this special experience to positively shape our lives and impact others we encounter. Yet, we know there are many more kids who have parental cancer as a centerpiece of their story. We know we can reach them and help to rewrite those stories, too.

What does it feel like to share your story?
What if you saw it reflected back in the faces of those you told? How will you share your shine today?

KESEM AT 20

SHINE ON

“As a prior camper and current counselor, I think the most impactful part of Camp Kesem is the emphasis on the fact that we are a true family and a supportive, caring community. As both a camper and counselor I have felt included and loved and have formed lifelong friendships. I am beyond grateful for Camp Kesem and want to make the most positive impact I possibly can.

I also loved being able to be there for the campers and give them the safe, stress-free space that they need and deserve. It makes me so happy that I have been able to contribute to the happiness and comfort of the campers and counselors and I will cherish all my Kesem memories forever.

I was beyond thrilled we had mental health professionals. I used them everyday and it really helped me a lot, just to talk with them one on one. Kesem means support to me. A lot of rare magical support I can't get anywhere close. I could lean on anyone's shoulder for a good cry or laugh and not feel embarrassed or insecure.

“When I began creating Kesem in 2000 at Stanford, I never imagined we would have helped over 10,200 children through 125 chapters in 44 states 19 years later. We have been able to do this because of loyal and passionate supporters and volunteers. I am excited to continue to be a part of an organization that brings a little magic into so many lives as we enter our 20th anniversary year.

—IRIS RAVE WEDEKING, CAMP KESEM FOUNDER

A child's friend through and beyond a parent's cancer.

Kesem's mission of supporting children through and beyond a parent's cancer, and our vision of ensuring that every child impacted by a parent's cancer is never alone, can only be realized through an ongoing, steadfast commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in every part of our organization.
