The Hunger Games: The Ballad of Songbirds & Snakes is a 2023 American dystopian action film directed by Francis Lawrence from a screenplay by Michael Lesslie and Michael Arndt. When Lucy Gray, District 12's female tribute, pays her respects at the Peacekeeper's fallen soldiers, she is immediately killed by them. As the rebellion begins to escalate, bombs explode in the game arena, killing several tributes and mentors, including President Snow's son Felix. Coriolanus saves Lucy Gray from debris, giving her rat poison as a weapon and revealing that the bombings have opened new hiding places in the arena. The next day, the Games begin anew, with Lucy Gray surviving the initial bloodbath and reuniting with Jessup, District 12's male tribute. During the last round of the Games, genetically modified snakes are released into the arena as revenge for Felix's death. With Coriolanus' help, Lucy Gray avoids being bitten and wins the Games. However, Dean Casca Highbottom accuses Coriolanus of cheating, revealing a handkerchief dropped into the snake tank to recognize Lucy Gray's scent and her mother's compact filled with poison which Lucy used. As a result, Highbottom sentences Coriolanus to 20 years as a Peacekeeper, but Coriolanus bribes an officer to transfer him to District 12. In District 12, Coriolanus reunites with Lucy Gray, and they soon flee north together after witnessing a rebel's execution. At a small cabin, Coriolanus finds the hidden weapons tying him to Mayfair's murder, leading him to abandon them in the lake. Lucy Gray's characters from the upcoming prequel film include: Tigris - played by Jason Schwartzman Casca Highbottom - played by Peter Dinklage Sejanus Plinth - played by Josh Andrés Rivera Dr. Volumnia Gaul - played by Viola Davis Grandma'am - played by Fionnula Flanagan The film's length was initially considered daunting, but the cast and crew worked efficiently to complete it. In addition to directing, Francis Lawrence would serve as an executive producer. Tom Blyth joined the project in May 2022, taking on the role of young President Snow, while Rachel Zegler played his protégée Lucy Gray Baird. Zegler initially turned down the offer but later changed her mind. The following month, Josh Andrés Rivera, Hunter Schafer, Jason Schwartzman, and Peter Dinklage were cast. The film's cast continued to grow throughout June and July 2022 as actors took on various roles as tributes and mentors. Viola Davis joined the project in August 2022, playing Volumnia Gaul, the head gamemaker. Filming began in Wrocław, Poland, in July 2022 and concluded in Berlin, Germany, in November 2022. The film's soundtrack features songs such as "The Hanging Tree" and "Pure as the Driven Snow," both performed by Zegler. The official soundtrack was released on November 17. Composer James Newton Howard returned to score the film, which was also released on November 17. To promote the film during the SAG-AFTRA strike, Lionsgate obtained an interim agreement. The Hunger Games: The Ballad of Songbirds & Snakes had its European premiere in Berlin and world premiere at the BFI IMAX in London. The film was released in Europe on November 16 and globally on November 17. It was later released digitally and via VOD on December 19, followed by a physical release on February 13, 2024. The Hunger Games prequel earned $349 million worldwide, with $166.4 million coming from the United States and Canada. It was released alongside several other movies in its opening weekend, which projected a gross of around $50 million. Instead, it debuted to $44 million, but still topped the box office despite being the lowest-starting film in the franchise. Over time, it dropped in ranking, finishing second for three weeks behind new releases like Renaissance: A Film by Beyoncé and The Boy and the Heron. On review aggregation website Rotten Tomatoes, 64% of critics gave positive reviews, praising its cast and story, but criticizing its rushed ending. Metacritic assigned a score of 54 out of 100 based on 53 critics' reviews, indicating mixed or average opinions. Audiences polled by CinemaScore gave the film an average grade of "B+", while those polled by PostTrak gave it an 87% positive score. Some critics viewed the movie as an overwrought snooze-fest, but others argued that it was the most satisfying entry in the franchise. The movie "The Hunger Games: The Ballad of Songbirds & Snakes" failed to live up to expectations from critics and fans alike. Many feel that the film's energy has "expired", implying that it's too late to introduce new elements into the series. Clarisse Loughrey, a critic from The Independent, expressed disappointment with the movie, stating that it squandered the anger in Suzanne Collins' original novel and diluted its most iconic villain. The film was nominated for several awards, including an Alliance of Women Film Journalists Award, an Artios Award, a Costume Designers Guild Award, and a Hollywood Music in Media Award. However, it won only one award at the People's Choice Awards for Action Movie of the Year. At the Saturn Awards, the film is pending in several categories, including Best Science Fiction Film, Best Actor in a Film, Best Younger Actor in a Film, Best Film Music, and Best Film Costume Design. A new book and film adaptation of The Hunger Games series are in the works. The first round of tributes for the prequel, "The Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes," has been announced, including Tom Blyth as young President Snow and Rachel Zegler as Lucy Gray Baird. The movie is set to start production in early 2022, with director Francis Lawrence considered splitting the film into two parts. Additionally, Lionsgate CEO Joe Drake has stated that there are more stories to tell within the Hunger Games universe, with Brendan Morrow reporting on a potential new book and film adaptation titled "Sunrise on the Reaping." The prequel novel is set to be published in 2020, while the movie adaptation is currently in production. The cast for the prequel has also been expanding, with Fionnula Flanagan joining the ensemble. The film's release date has not yet been announced, but it is expected to arrive sometime in 2023 or later. Sources include various news articles and interviews with industry professionals, including Brendan Morrow, Anthony D'Alessandro, and Joe Drake. The Hunger Games: The Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes has added new cast members, including Josh Andres Rivera, Rachel Zegler, Hunter Schafer, Jason Schwartzman, Peter Dinklage, and Viola Davis. The prequel is set to explore the early days of Coriolanus Snow and his rise to power. The Hunger Games: The Ballad of Songbirds & Snakes has been making waves in the entertainment industry.
