About the Study:

Collin County is growing rapidly, and the current transportation infrastructure in the eastern and southeastern part of the County is not sufficient to support that growth. The Collin County Future Mobility Study will help guide future planning in the region and identify transportation improvements that will be needed in the coming years. As the study nears completion, Collin County is seeking feedback on recommendations, which were developed based on analysis of anticipated growth and development, modeling of future traffic patterns, and public input gathered from past public meetings.
