A total of 144 episodes were aired during the Unova arc. The journey continued in Kalos, where Ash met new friends Clermont, Bonnie, and Serena, as well as his childhood friend Serena. This arc introduced Mega Evolutions to the series. The Kalos arc consisted of three seasons: XY (48 episodes), XY: Kalos Quest (45 episodes), and XYZ (47 episodes). Arc 7: Alola was based on the Sun and Moon video games and followed Ash's adventures on the Alolan Islands. The arc used a different character animation style, which received mixed reactions from fans. It consisted of three seasons: Sun & Moon (43 episodes), Sun & Moon: Ultra Adventures (49 episodes), and Sun & Moon: Ultra Legends (54 episodes). Arc 8: Galar started with Pokémon Journeys, introducing the Galar region to the animated continuity. Ash was accompanied by a new partner, Goh, as they traveled across regions. The following timeline provides an overview of these events. From 2021 until May 26, 2022, the series consisted of 42 episodes. Following this, Ash's story concluded with the airing of "Pokémon Ultimate Journeys" from October 21, 2022, to September 8, 2023. The new arc, which started on April 14, 2023, focuses on Liko and Roy as protagonists. The franchise includes 23 Pokémon movies, all part of the same continuity. However, they are not directly related to the anime series' plot in some cases. To watch these animated movies in chronological order and in relation to the aforementioned arcs, follow the guide provided. The table at the beginning of this article lists the movies based on their official release dates. The Pokémon franchise has several arcs: Arc 1: Kanto movies There are only two movies from the first arc. These include: Pokémon The First Movie: Mewtwo Strikes Back Pokémon: Mewtwo Strikes Back—Evolution Pokémon The Movie 2000: The Power of One Arc 2: Johto movies This arc contains three feature-length movies and a special television movie. The following are the movies: Pokémon 3: The Movie – Spell of the Unown: Entei Pokémon: Mewtwo Returns Pokémon 4Ever – Celebi: Voice of the Forest Arc 3: Hoenn movies The Hoenn arc began in 2003, but it was announced earlier. The Sinnoh arc has four feature-length movies: Pokémon the Movie: The Rise of Darkrai (set between episodes 506-523), Pokémon: Giratina & the Sky Warrior (set between episodes 553-568), Pokémon: Arceus and the Jewel of Life (set between episodes 600-631), and Pokémon: Zoroark: Master of Illusions (set between episode 639 and the end of the Sinnoh arc). The Unova arc features four movies as well: two films, Pokémon the Movie: Black—Victini and Reshiram and Pokémon the Movie: White—Victini and Zekrom, which are standalone stories set within the Unova arc. The Kalos arc contains three feature-length movies set during the XY series: Pokémon the Movie: Diancie and the Cocoon of Destruction (set between episodes 838-853), Pokémon the Movie: Hoopa and the Clash of Ages (set between episodes 868-901), and Pokémon the Movie: Volcanion and the Mechanical Marvel (set between episodes 911-927). Despite Generation VII having two movies, they are not part of the Alola arc as presented in the anime series. Instead, these two movies launched an alternative reality that still follows Ash and Pikachu but has completely different stories. Without official movies, the Galar arc becomes the first major narrative arc to face this issue, similar to what happened with the Alola arc years ago. There is no movie that takes place within the Pokémon Journeys storyline, unlike Generation VII movies which exist in an alternative timeline. The Generation VIII movie is also separate from the main anime continuity, existing in a different timeline established by the previous films. Alternative continuities have become common in Pokémon movies since Generation VII. Starting with I Choose You!, the films deviate from the main storyline but share some characters and events with the anime series. These alternate timelines show a more condensed version of certain adventures due to their film format limitations. The following movies are part of this alternative timeline: I Choose You!, The Power of Us, Secrets of the Jungle, as well as Generation VIII's first movie. The Pokémon series has been completed in the Kalos region, with episodes ranging from 3-5 minutes in length and totaling 18 episodes. A separate ONA titled "Pokémon: Twilight Wings" was also released, inspired by the new Sword and Shield games and serving as a promotion for them. The series initially had seven episodes but added an extra one to promote DLC packs. All "Twilight Wings" episodes were around six minutes long. Another stop-motion animated series called Pokémon Concierge was created in collaboration with Netflix and The Pokémon Company, consisting of four episodes that were globally released on December 28, 2023. This series revolves around Haru's interactions at the Pokémon Resort and her encounters with both Pokémon and their trainers who visit as guests.
