Its strategic location has historically made it a hub for commerce and trade. Basel's status as a cultural, business, and tourist hub ensures a wide range of accommodation options.The city has a population of around 200,000 people, making it the third-largest city in Switzerland, after Zurich and Geneva.Basel has an efficient public transportation system, including trams and buses that connect various parts of the city and surrounding regions. The city's proximity to the Basel-Mulhouse-Freiburg Airport, located just outside the city and serving Switzerland, France, and Germany, facilitates international travel.The shortlist of Swiss cities in the run for hosting Eurovision Song Contest 2025 was Basel and Geneva. The host city was announced on 30 August 2024.Arena: St. JakobshalleThe multi-purpose indoor arena is known for hosting a variety of events, including sports competitions, concerts, TV shows and other large gatherings.St. JakobshalleSt. Jakobshalle has a flexible seating arrangement, allowing it to accommodate different types of events. The capacity can vary, but it can host up to 12,400 spectators for concerts.The arena is home to the Swiss Indoors Basel, an annual tennis tournament that attracts top players from around the world, and hosts other sporting events such as basketball, handball, and volleyball.It is a popular concert venue, attracting international music stars and bands. Artists like Madonna, Queen, and Rihanna have performed there.The arena will be reserved for 7.5 weeks for Eurovision 2025. The preparations start already on 7 April, where the roof will be temporarily enforced to support 280 tons of equipment (currently the arena roof can handle 120 tons).Participants37 countries will participate at the Eurovision Song Contest 2025:WELCOME BACK Montenegro will return to Eurovision after two years break. There will be two semi-finals on Tuesday and Thursday at 8pm, with the grand final on Saturday at 8pm. The semi-finals will be broadcast on RT2 and the final on RT One. Who is representing Ireland at Eurovision 2025?Irelands Eurovision hopes have been entrusted to 24-year-old Norwegian singer Emmy Kristiansen, who will perform the song Laika Party co-written with Russian-born, Westmeath-based Larissa Tormey.Emmy is from a village in the south of Norway. In 2021, she reached Norways Eurovision national finals with Witch Wood. In 2023, she was on the jury that selected Norways representative in the competition. In Basle, she will be joined by her brother Erlend, who will maintain a deadpan pose while playing keyboards. Tell me more about the song.Emmy came up with the concept of Laika Party at a songwriting camp in Norway. A few days previously, she and her family had been having a quiz night, and one of the questions had to do with Laika, the space dog notoriously blasted into high orbit aboard Sputnik 2 by the Soviet Union in 1957, where she was left to a horrible fate, confused and alone perhaps like Irelands Wild Youth at Eurovision 2023? It isnt the first time Laika has been eulogised in song the tragic pooch is referenced in the Arcade Fire track Neighbourhood 2 (Laika). Its a great story about a dog being the first living creature in space, the bands singer, Win Butler, explained. Doing this spectacular thing, but not having food and watching itself fall back into the earth.So, do we like this song?Laika Party has its fans but it has also proved controversial, with some Eurovision commentators struck by the contrast between the upbeat synth melody and the downbeat subject. Emmy says that this is the point: the real Laika suffered a lonely death. In Laika Party, she set out to rewrite history and give the interstellar dog a happy ending. As she sings: I hope Laika never died and that she spins around us still/ And that she has a party in the air and always will.Why is a Norwegian singing about a dead Soviet space dog representing Ireland in Switzerland? There is a rich history of singers representing other countries at Eurovision. Katrina Leskanich of Katrina and the Waves did so for the UK in 1997, while in 2021, rapper Flo Rida featured on the San Marino entry. If new to Ireland, it is a long-standing Eurovision tradition. What about the staging? Emmy rehearsing her song Laika Party in St Jakobshalle, Switzerland. Photograph: Corinne Cumming/EBU At Eurovision, appearance counts as much as the song one reason Macrooms Bambie Thug did so well in 2024 was because of their visually stunning Crown the Witch staging of Doomsday Blue. It was impressive, even with the sound turned down. In the case of Laika Party, Emmy is leaning into the science fiction aspect and will perform atop a platform, drenched in purple neon lighting and with a back projection of a twinkling starfield. However, there has been some tweaking following dress rehearsals. We have made some changes after the first rehearsal. In the first rehearsal, I saw the props and the stage for the first time, and that was very big, Emmy said. We had to change a bit of the choreography and my placement on stage because of that and also, I had some rails on the rocket, because Im standing on top, but the team didnt think it looked that great on camera so we now removed the rails. When is Emmy performing? Ireland has been drawn in Thursday nights second semi-final. Emmy is third in the running order between Montenegro and Latvia. The early start is regarded as putting her at a disadvantage, as statistically, songs that appear later in the broadcast tend to fare better.[RT said we dont have any problem with Emmy. We have an Irish writer on the team: Irelands Eurovision singer from Norway]How will the song do? Ten of Thursdays 16 entrants will go on to the grand final after a public vote, and Emmy is expected to make the cut. But she is seen as an outsider for the contest proper with odds at 66/1. On Saturday, the successful semi-finalists are joined by the big five who are guaranteed a place in the final due to their financial contribution to Eurovision: Spain, France, Germany, the UK and Italy. Any clue who will win? Sweden is determined to eclipse Irelands seven Eurovision wins and become the only nation with eight victories. To that end, Swedens comedy pop trio KAJ are favourites in 2025, with their song Bara Bada Bastu having odds of 5/4. Others regarded as in the running are Austria (9/4), France (9/1) and Israel (12/1).Wasnt there controversy about the Israeli entry?The continued participation of the country is regarded as controversial by many. The country is represented by Yuval Raphael, a 24-year-old singer and survivor of the mass killing by Hamas of attendees at the Nova music festival on October 7th, 2023. RT has called on Eurovision organisers, the European Broadcast Union (EBU), to discuss Israels participation. In an open letter to the EBU, 72 musicians associated with Eurovision demanded the exclusion from the contest of Israeli national broadcaster Kan, which, they said, was complicit in Israels genocide against the Palestinians in Gaza and the decades-long regime of apartheid and military occupation against the entire Palestinian people. Signatories included 1994 Ireland winner Charlie McGettigan.Will the controversy around Israel affect the contest? There were several flashpoints around Israel and Gaza at last years contest: Bambie Thug, for instance, was asked to remove Ogham script saying, Ceasefire and Freedom for Palestine. This year, the EBU has changed the rules so that participants can only fly their national flag on camera. However, audience members will all be able to wave Palestinian flags. The EBU is also stepping up backstage protection of artists by creating no filming zones. How does voting work? The semi-finals are decided based on a public vote. Participating countries will vote in the semi-final their country is in, though they cannot vote for their own representative. You can vote over the phone, by text or through the Eurovision app. For the final, the public vote will account for 50 per cent of marks, with the other half adjudicated by national panels. The experts scores are based on the Friday night jury final performances, which take place behind closed doors. Eurofans, espaoles y amantes de la msica! Se acerca el momento ms esperado del ao. Eurovision voting rulesRead more: Eurovision Song Contest 2025: BaselEurovision News KAJ, representing Sweden, with the song Bara Bada Bastu. Photo: SEBASTIEN BOZON/AFP via Getty Images After finding Nemo from Switzerland to be the best competitor last year, juries and viewers around the world are preparing to crown a new champion in Europes annual fever dream of a singing competition. Thats right its Eurovision Song Contest week. This year, the musical battle began with the first semi-final round in Basel, Switzerland on May 13. A second semi-final on May 15 will lead to 26 countries facing off in the grand final on May 17. Who has qualified for the final so far, and whose participation has been protested? Here, everything you need to know about Eurovision 2025, including how and when you can tune in for live performances of these tunes (yes, even if youre in America). The European Broadcasting Unions annual singing competition pits countries in Europe (and a couple other continents) against each other, each participating via their own national broadcaster. All countries enter with an original song, which is sometimes chosen internally and sometimes chosen after winning a national competition. In two semi-final rounds and a grand final, singers perform their countrys song live, competing for points from country juries and votes from viewers around the world. Historically, the performances can get pretty unhinged. The winner doesnt get any money but they do earn their country the right to host the next Eurovision. Plus, they have a shot at achieving fame; notable past winners include ABBA, Celine Dion, and Mneskin. Barring any disqualifications like last year, 26 countries will battle it out on Saturday. The Big Five France, Germany, Italy, Spain and the U.K. pay big bucks to Eurovision, and always automatically qualify as a result of their financial contributions. As this years host, Switzerland also doesnt have to worry about securing a spot. After the first semi-final on May 13 selected 10 countries to progress, we now have 16 confirmed qualifiers headed to the grand final so far: France - Maman by Louane Germany - Baller by Abor & Tynna Italy - Volevo Essere Un Duro by Lucio Corsi Spain - Esa diva by Melody U.K. - What The Hell Just Happened? by Remember Monday Switzerland - Voyage by Zo M Norway: Lighter by Kyle Alessandro Albania: Zjerm by Shkodra Elektronike Sweden: Bara Bada Bastu by KAJ Iceland: RA by VB Netherlands: Cest La Vie by Claude Poland: GAJA by Justyna Steczkowska San Marino: Tutta LItalia by Gabry Ponte Estonia: Espresso Macchiato by Tommy Cash Portugal: Deslocado by NAPA Ukraine: Bird of Pray by Ziferblat The final 10 competitors will be chosen from the countries competing in the second semi-final Australia, Montenegro, Ireland, Latvia, Armenia, Austria, Greece, Lithuania, Malta, Georgia, Denmark, Czechia, Luxembourg, Serbia, Finland, and (controversially) Israel on May 15. Yup. Just like last year, there have been protests over the EBUs decision to allow Israel to participate amid the ongoing war in Gaza. (Such a move wouldnt be unprecedented; Russia was previously disqualified from Eurovision in 2022 following its invasion of Ukraine.) Amid backlash in 2024, Palestinian flags and symbols were banned from Eurovision. According to CNN, the EBU has overturned this policy for this years audience members though artists will now only be allowed to wave their countrys official flag. (This means performers are also prohibited from displaying rainbow Pride flags.) Well, first, where are you? The semi-finals on May 13 and May 15 both have the same start time as the May 17 grand final: 3 p.m. ET. If youre in a competing country, your national broadcaster will be airing Eurovision on TV and honestly, you can probably just walk into a local bar or club and find it playing on a screen. In many countries, you can also tune in on Eurovisions YouTube channel. In the U.S., though, Peacock has exclusive streaming rights, meaning that you can catch Eurovision live for the cost of a subscription (plans start at $7.99/month). Americans can sound off on what sounds best by voting on Eurovisions website as part of the Rest of the World because despite the fact that Estonias representative wishes JoJo Siwa was there, Eurovision isnt part of the American vision just yet. Its Time for Europes Singing Olympics AgainThe Eurovision Song Contest is a cultural extravaganza, designed to draw the people of Europe together through light entertainment and healthy competition. But ultimately, its all about the songs.Since the first competition in 1956 there have been 71 winners (due to an infamous four-way tie in 1969). Those contestants have ranged from the good (Conchita) to the bad (most of the early 2000s), but its worth exploring the list for some of the gems hidden among the decades.Eurovision can also be viewed as a kind of cultural history of our evolving and sometimes dubious musical tastes. If you thought Brexit was a disaster, let this be your reminder that European votes have been throwing up some very questionable results for more than half a century. Let us begin...71. Satellite Lena (Germany, 2010)Like ripping off a band aid, we must begin with the truly cringeworthy. Lena sounded like a tuneless heiress whose dad has paid for her to record a cover of an Olly Murs track for her 16th birthday.70. Un premier amour Isabelle Aubret (France, 1962)A totally forgettable song that even Aubrets sultry French purring cant save.69. Everybody Tanel Padar, Dave Benton and 2XL (Estonia, 2001)Why did it take three individuals to perform this? Why are they all wearing shirts clearly found on the floor of a TK Maxx? Why on Earth did people vote for this? Why?68. Poupe de cire, poupe de son France Gall (Luxembourg, 1965)Serge Gainsbourg wrote this dreary song about a rag doll, performed at Eurovision in 1965 by Gall, a much beloved Sienna Miller lookalike.67. I Wanna Marie N (Latvia, 2002)The song itself is dreadful, like a tango number from regional panto, but the white suits and fedoras confuse things even more. Whoever dreamt up this spectacle, please, I just want to talk.Marie N wins for Latvia in 200266. Net als toen Corry Brokken (Netherlands, 1957)Given this song drags on for an eye-watering five minutes, you can see why the competition introduced a three minute time limit.65. Nocturne Secret Garden (Norway, 1995)Norway were trying to do something different here, but with hindsight this largely instrumental piece is just dull.64. Nous les amoureux Jean-Claude Pascal (Luxembourg, 1961)If you like tall, dark and handsome French men crooning softly down the camera lens at you, then 1961 was a good year. For the music fans among us not so much.63. De troubadour Lenny Kuhr (Netherlands, 1969)This 1969 entry from the Netherlands sounds like the 16th century entry from Ye Olde Englande.62. Een Beetje Teddy Scholten (Netherlands, 1959)Een beetje means a little, which is how faithful Scholten says she is to her boyfriend all quite scandalous stuff for 1959, but the song itself sounds like a nursery rhyme so were good.1966 winnerUdoJrgensis congratulated by 1965 winner France Gall (AF61. Merci, Chrie Udo Jrgens (Luxembourg, 1966)If you like tall, dark and handsome Austrian men crooning softly...well, you get the idea.60. Dansevise - Grethe and Jrgen Ingmann (Denmark, 1963)Quite a pleasant guitar-led ballad from this husband and wife duo who look like theyve just stepped out of Mad Men.59. Dors, mon amour Andr Claveau (France, 1958)Like a French version of Beyond the Sea, another old crooner number youll quickly forget.58. Wild Dances Ruslana (Ukraine, 2004)If youve ever wondered what it looks like when Xena Warrior Princess lets her hair down on a night out, wonder no more.(Ruslanawins for Ukraine in 2004AFP/Getty57. L'oiseau et l'enfant Marie Myriam (France, 1977)This was the last time France won, but they made the most of it this song builds up to a powerful finish.56. Non ho l'et Gigliola Cinquetti (Italy, 1964)No video recording of the 1964 show exists, so youll have to make do with listening to this one blind a bit like being on The Voice. You probably wouldnt turn your chair around, and you definitely wouldnt press the golden buzzer.55. Tom Pillibi Jacqueline Boyer (France, 1960)This song is about a man who claims to have castles, ships, and many, many women but Jacqueline claims hes a complete liar. Mr Pillibi could not be reached for comment.54. The Voice Eimear Quinn (Ireland, 1996)After the world fell in love with Riverdance, Ireland served up this ethereal homage to Irish traditional music that secured a record seventh win but it pales in comparison to its predecessors.53. Un jour, un enfant Frida Boccara (France, 1969)A rousing chorus features in an otherwise dull affair Boccaras voice is the best thing here.52. Ein bichen Frieden Nicole (Germany, 1982)17-year-old Nicole accompanies herself on guitar for this round -the-campfire jaunt about peace and joy on earth. Its just alright.Nicole sings for Germany in 198251. Ding-a-dong Teach-In (Netherlands, 1975)A decent melody, but the singer doesnt appear fully confident with the silly refrain. Probably some of the worst costumes of the 1970s on show here, too.50. A-Ba-Ni-Bi Izhar Cohen and the Alphabeta (Israel, 1978)A better stab at the same groovy style, Israels first ever win almost goes full-on disco, with its white suits and synchronised dancing.49. Un banc, un arbre, une rue Sverine (Monaco, 1971)The only win for Monaco in Eurovision history is a classic French chanson with a strong, driving chorus. Even if it is about a bench, a tree and a street.48. La, la, la Massiel (Spain, 1968)Cliff Richards Congratulations was beaten by this song, which threatens to stick in your head for days.Maisselis congratulated by runner-up Cliff Richard in 196847. Rock Me Riva (Yugoslavia, 1989)Speaking of repetitive tunes that you cant get out of your head, good luck with this slice of electropop cheese.46. Vivo cantando Salom (Spain, 1969)Lets discuss Salom, who broke the no-dancing rule with her sassy shrugs and arm flicks while sporting a blue feathered jumpsuit, a pearl necklace and smoky eyeshadow. Did I mention shes called Salom? We have decided to stan.45. Insieme: 1992 Toto Cutugno (Italy, 1990)A touching rock power ballad about the need for Europe to unite as one. Anyone for an encore?44. Hallelujah Gali Atari and Milk and Honey (Israel 1979)So. Many. Key. Changes. This truly is the Love On Top of Eurovision songs. Its probably gone up another few octaves while you were reading this article.43. La det swinge Bobbysocks! (Norway, 1985)One of many songs that straddles the line between amazing and awful, a bit like two of your aunts doing ABBA at karaoke. Were cheering them on all the same.Nettawins for Israel in 201842. Toy Netta (Israel, 2018)A truly wacky song and performance, Toy has a catchy chorus surrounded by questionable gibberish, chicken noises, and surely the competitions only Pikachu reference.41. Refrain Lys Assia (Switzerland, 1956)The first ever Eurovision winner is a classic, romantic affair, with playful orchestration and swooning backing singers. One of the best of the early years.40. Believe Dima Bilan (Russia, 2008)A mid-tempo boyband-style song, Russias big win was an ironically homoerotic affair, with the handsome Bilan exposing his chest while a male ice dancer touched himself nearby.39. Heroes Mns Zelmerlw (Sweden, 2015)Another from the handsome chap category, Heroes was like a David Guetta production with slightly underwhelming country-style verses. Extra points for the high-tech staging, though.AlexanderRybakwins for Norway in 2009 (38. Fairytale Alexander Rybak (Norway, 2009)Rybaks impressive fiddling and folk dancing made this a memorable Eurovision moment.37. Running Scared Ell & Nikki (Azerbaijan, 2011)This is nice and all, but its a bit like a mid-Noughties band releasing their fourth single from the album, without any budget for the impressive visuals offered by fellow Eurovision champions.36. The Code Nemo (Switzerland, 2024)Nemo of Switzerland, who performed the song The Code, won in 2024 (Martin Meissner/AP) (AP)In a contest where Israels participation amid its war on Gaza threatened to overshadow the whole thing, the sweet and incredibly talented Nemo, who goes by they/them pronouns, charmed both the jury and public voters with their opera-techno mash-up The Code. Demonstrating their extraordinary voice, Nemos performance also featured some excellent staging and riffed cleverly on the Habanera aria from Georges Bizets 1985 opera Carmen.35. Aprs toi Vicky Leandros (Luxembourg, 1972)A strong ballad from a popular Eurovision singer, who seemed to have accidentally turned up dressed for a funeral.34. All Kinds of Everything Dana (Ireland, 1970)Irelands first win is a thoroughly wholesome piece from an original Derry girl. Beautifully composed, its almost like something from a Disney film.Dana celebrates Ireland's first win in 197033. Tu te reconnatras Anne-Marie David (Luxembourg, 1973)Another ballad with strong orchestration and one of the best choruses from the Seventies.32. "Arcade" - Duncan Laurence (The Netherlands, 2019)This was one of a few recent winners that defied form. Catchy dance hits lost out to Laurence who seduced the audience with his atmospheric piano ballad, while looking like that cute guy from your university lectures.31. My Number One Helena Paparizou (Greece, 2005)As was the vogue during the early Noughties, this lifts heavily from the home countrys traditional musical elements then adds a modern spin. Like a Greek J Lo, Paparizou never misses a beat, despite the demanding dance routine.30. Fly on the Wings of Love Olsen Brothers (Denmark, 2000)This is a very well-written pop song, and very memorable, but these lads are a strange choice as the ones to sing it. Its all a bit old-fashioned and folksy. Probably better known from the DJ Sammy version.Charlotte Nilsson wins for Sweden in 199929. Take Me to Your Heaven Charlotte Nilsson (Sweden, 1999)On the surface this appears quite cheesy, but the more you stay with it, the harder it is to find fault. Nilsson is a great singer, and the song runs through frequent, impressive key changes. The saxophones and piano chords hark directly back to ABBAs Waterloo.28. Jaime la Vie Sandra Kim (Belgium, 1986)This song is so Eighties, it just threatened me with nuclear war at a Rubiks Cube convention. Easily the decades most synth-y, techno-pop excursion. Dont be fooled by Sandras suburban mum costume either, she was only 13 here, making her the youngest winner ever.27. Diggi-Loo Diggi-Ley Herreys (Sweden, 1984)Yes the title is nonsense, and yes its cheesy, but really the song is just inescapably catchy. Plus, this trio of blonde Scandi brothers, with their white trousers and block coloured shirts, is a total look.26. Save Your Kisses for Me Brotherhood of Man (United Kingdom, 1976)A little dated, but Save Your Kisses for Me cannot be denied as a Eurovision classic. The melody of the chorus is always a treat.25) Tattoo Loreen, 2023One of Eurovisions more controversial wins involved Swedish delegate Loreen beating Finnish favourite Karaaji and his song Cha Cha Cha. Many fans were outraged, but others pointed out that it was hard to claim that Loreen hadnt impressed with her huge vocal performance on Tattoo, a soaring ballad loaded with pumping dance beats and a thrilling climax. Brotherhood of Man win for the UK in 197624. Why Me? Linda Martin (Ireland, 1992)A soft-rock power ballad written by two-time winner Johnny Logan is performed by Eurovision veteran Linda Martin. If anyone doubts her commitment to this competition, watch the blazing row she started during Irelands entry process on The Late Late Show in 2014. Douze points.23. Si la vie est cadeau Corinne Herms (Luxembourg, 1983)Why are all these French language ballads so damn good? This is another great one, and a big shout out to Herms Dynasty-style hair and shoulder pads.22. Whats Another Year Johnny Logan (Ireland, 1980)The first win for the King of Eurovision, who looked like one of The Osmonds as he stole hearts with this lament of heartbreak.21. Everyway That I Can Sertab Erener (Turkey, 2003)Heres some more of those eastern musical elements being incorporated into an absolute dance banger. Belly dancing and some unexpected rapping are thrown in for good measure.Ukraine's Jamala smiles after winning the 2016 Eurovision Song Contest final, after singing a melancholic tune about the 1944 deportation of Crimean Tatars by Soviet authorities20. 1944 Jamala (Ukraine, 2016)Arguably the most political of the winning songs, 1944 deals with Soviet deportation of Crimean Tatars against the backdrop of renewed repression. Heavy stuff, but as Jamalas vocals cry out over a powerful fusion of trip-hop and traditional folk instrumentation, it works perfectly.19. Diva Dana International (Israel, 1998)As the first transgender woman to compete in the contest, Dana caused a bit of a stir among Israeli conservatives but was roundly embraced by Eurovision audiences. The song itself sounds like it was made for gay clubbing with its cries of adoration for iconic women like Cleopatra, Aphrodite, and Victoria (you have to assume she means Posh Spice).18. Puppet on a String Sandie Shaw (United Kingdom, 1967)The first win for the UK was one of the biggest margins in Eurovision history, though Shaw herself called the ditty sexist drivel, and hated it from the very first oompah to the final bang. Its cheesy but undeniably catchy, and in the chronological order of winners, it jumps out as the moment the competition ditched easy listening for contemporary pop.17. Amar pelos dois Salvador Sobral (Portugal, 2017)Once a decade or so, we see the surprise triumph of a gentle, timeless ballad, and this was the most recent example. Stripped-back, modest and beautifully melodic, Amar pelos dois swept into the competition like a breath of fresh air.Salvador Sobral, 2017 Eurovision winner16. In Your Eyes Niamh Kavanagh (Ireland, 1993)Regarded as one of the best singers to grace the competition, Kavanagh soars through this challenging power ballad. Its one of those of the moment songs that could easily have been a hit for Whitney or Mariah during this period. Trivia fans might like to know that the demo was recorded by a young, then-unknown Idina Menzel.15. Stefania Kalush Orchestra (Ukraine, 2022)Kalush Orchestra performing Stefania (Copyright 2022 The Associated Press. All rights reserved)This track was special for several reasons. Not only was it a tribute to frontman Oleh Psiuks mother, but it was also performed in an extremely fraught time for Ukraine, just three months after Putins invasion. Many attempted to politicise their win, but the song, a mixture of hip hop and traditional Ukrainian folk music, more than stood up on its own.14. Rock n Roll Kids Paul Harrington and Charlie McGettigan (Ireland, 1994)Two middle-aged guys on piano and guitar singing a wistful ballad about their lost youth isnt your typical Eurovision hit. Indeed, there is a long-held belief that Ireland chose this entry to ensure they wouldnt win so as to avoid the cost of hosting for a third year running. It didnt work.13. Only Teardrops Emmelie de Forest (Denmark, 2013)A great pop song with consistently strong melodies throughout. The flute motif is probably the best use of traditional folk elements now heavily employed by many countries. So what if its a bit Ellie Goulding?12. Zitti e Buoni Maneskin (Italy, 2021)Italys triumph at Eurovision was all thanks to the full-throttle rocknroll of Maneskin, a flamboyant band who wowed Eurovision voters with their Italian-language song Zitti e Buoni. They were the first Italian entry to win the contest in 31 years.11. Boom Bang-a-Bang Lulu (United Kingdom, 1969)Easily the best of the 1969 quartet of winners, Lulu gives this tongue-in-cheek number the playful performance which the music and lyrics deserve, looking every inch the Swinging London girl. The boom bang-a-bang refrain is enjoyable enough, but the swooping line Its such a lovely feeling will have you swaying along blissfully.Lulu was one of four winners in 196910. Molitva Marija erifovi (Serbia, 2007)Lets get down to business. Making their debut at Eurovision, Serbia later romped home as champions with this high-drama ballad. In an era when extravagance had well and truly taken hold, the staging was notably bare. The orchestra, the belting, the key changes, and the five backing singers dressed as a cross between beauty queens and security guards all make this feel like the climax of a modern opera.9. Hard Rock Hallelujah Lordi (Finland, 2006)Has Eurovision ever seen anything like it, before or since? Finlands first win after 45 years of participating came at the hands of a heavy metal band dressed in monster costumes but this ranking is not based on novelty alone. Behind the growled vocals and pyrotechnics, Hard Rock Hallelujah is a pretty great song even for those who ordinarily cant stand this kind of thing. The backing vocals on the chorus are a particular high. It also provided a welcome departure from the high-octane pop-fest that many believe Eurovision to be.Lordi taking the prize for Finland8. Hold Me Now Johnny Logan (Ireland, 1987)The jewel in the crown of Irelands seven wins is this corker from Logan, who returned looking every inch the matinee idol in his pristine white suit. Its the kind of big power ballad that fist-clenching was made for, and his big build on I will always love you should win another prize for the most ambitious key change.7. Fngad av en stormvind Carola (Sweden, 1991)One of Swedens most popular entries, Carola is winning from the moment she bounds on stage and lets out that first Woah-oh-oh!. Her voice is flawless, the key changes are great, and who doesnt appreciate a wind machine? Another slice of Scandi pop perfection.6. Making Your Mind Up Bucks Fizz (United Kingdom, 1981)A high energy pop song with colourful young performers and fun choreography Making Your Mind Up is the stuff that Eurovision is made of. The famous moment when the boys ripped off the girls skirts only to reveal shorter skirts beneath them is one of the competitions most famous moments. A number one hit record across Europe that year, the song remains as infectious today as ever.5. Ne partez pas sans moi Cline Dion (Switzerland, 1988)Celine Dion at EurovisionCeline Dion was just 20 years old when she came to international attention with this performance. The song itself is excellent a French chanson worthy of Edith Piaf, with a slightly twee drum machine stepping up the beat for a bop of a chorus. This all took place before Celine was transformed into an ageless power ballad queen (see the pageant-esque hair and outfit), but its thrilling to hear how her vocals were sheer perfection even then. Oh, and the arm choreography was well on its way too.4. Love Shine a Light Katrina and the Waves (United Kingdom, 1997)Katrina and the WavesThe beautiful fusion of hammond organ, tambourines, hand clapping and the quasi-spiritual lyrics themselves make this feel like a glorious hymn and Katrina really takes it to church. One of the highest scorers in modern times, this was the last time the UK won the competition, and it came the day after Labours landslide 1997 election victory. What a time to be alive.3. Rise Like a Phoenix Conchita Wurst (Austria, 2014)Conchita Wurst won the Eurovision song contest in 2014Conchitas performance had everything you could want in a Eurovision performance. Elegant and fierce all at once, Rise Like a Phoenix could match the finest Bond theme, and is easily one of the most timeless of all the winners. The big band adds to the glamour of it all, and brings the goosebumps on that dramatic orchestral rise towards the final chorus. It was a powerful moment for LGBT+ visibility, too; the songs theme of triumph over adversity secured it as an anthem for lifes survivors.2. Euphoria Loreen (Sweden, 2012)May 27, 2012: Loreen of Sweden performs her song "Euphoria" after winning the Eurovision song contest in Baku.Its hard to pick any other recent winner that comes as close to contemporary chart toppers as Euphoria a dance hit that many contemporary pop stars would kill for. Written by Swedens Thomas G:son who has produced more than 90 songs for Eurovision competitors across multiple countries Euphoria is built on clever pop formulas. The chorus itself is anthemic perfection, but when Loreen tacks on: Were going up, up, up... it strikes gold. The Kate Bush-esque performance was an added bonus.1. Waterloo ABBA (Sweden, 1974)ABBA stars Benny Andersson, Anni-Frid Lyngstad, Agnetha Fltskog and Bjrn Ulvaeus in 1974.ABBA burst onto the stage at the 1974 competition, kickstarting Swedens international reputation as masters of pop. Early adopters of the kind of kitsch which would come to typify the show, ABBA used their platform to offer a taste of the cultural phenomenon they would go on to become. From the opening piano build to the switch between a minor bridge and major chorus, to the catchy hooks littered throughout, Waterloo is a masterclass in how to write a hit, and the song rightly went on to become one of the best-selling singles of all time. ABBA continue to influence Eurovision contestants to this day, and while you may have another favourite, Waterloo is a song on which most people can agree is a solid gold classic. We promise to love you forever more.This article was originally published in 2019.International song competition"Eurovision 2025" redirects here. It is taking place in Basel, Switzerland, following the country's victory at the 2024 contest with the song "The Code" by Nemo. Organised by the European Broadcasting Union (EBU) and host broadcaster the Swiss Broadcasting Corporation (SRG SSR), the contest is held at St. Jakobshalle, and consists of two semi-finals on 13 and 15 May, and a final on 17 May 2025. The three live shows are presented by Hazel Brugger and Sandra Studer, with Michelle Hunziker joining for the final.Broadcasters from thirty-seven countries are participating in the contest, the same number as the previous two editions. Montenegro returns after a two-year absence, while Moldova, which had originally planned to participate, later withdrew due to economic reasons and the quality of its national selection.St. Jakobshalle, Basel host venue of the 2025 contestThe 2025 contest is taking place in Basel, Switzerland, following the country's victory at the 2024 contest with the song "The Code", performed by Nemo. It is the third time that Switzerland has hosted the contest, having previously done so for the inaugural contest in 1956 and the 1989 contest, held in Lugano and Lausanne respectively. The selected venue for the contest is the 12,400-seat St. Jakobshalle, which serves as a venue for indoor sports and concert events.[6] The arena is located in the municipality of Mnchenstein in Basel-Landschaft, right by the border with Basel-Stadt.[7]The Messe and Congress Center Basel complex hosts several events related to the contest. It is the location of the Eurovision Village, which hosts performances by contest participants and local artists as well as screenings of the live shows for the general public; and the EuroClub, which hosts the official after-parties and private performances by contest participants.[8] The "Turquoise Carpet" event on 11 May 2025 began at the Basel Town Hall and ran through the Middle Bridge, with the contestants and their delegations being presented before accredited press and fans, before ending at Messe Basel, where the opening ceremony was held.[9][10] St. Jakob-Park will hold a screening of the final along with performances by four previous Eurovision entrants,[b] with entry charged for the public; the stadium will also be featured on the live broadcast.[12][13][14] The Eurovision Street is located at Stinevorstadt.[15][16]BaselGenevaSt. GallenZurichBiel/Bienne & Bernclass=notpageimage| The location of the host city Basel (in blue), shortlisted cities (in green), other bidding cities (in red) and cities and towns that expressed interest but ultimately did not bid (in grey)After Switzerland's win in the 2024 contest, the local authorities of Geneva expressed interest in hosting the 2025 edition at Palexpo and submitted a formal application.[17][18] On the same day, the president of the Basel-Stadt government, Conradin Cramer, also expressed interest in Basel hosting the 2025 event.[19] On 12 May, Olma Hall in St. Gallen was proposed as a potential venue.[20][21]On 13 May, Lugano, which hosted the inaugural contest in 1956, ruled out a bid to host in 2025.[22] The president of Bern's cantonal government Philippe Mller expressed his reluctance to host the contest in the de facto Swiss capital,[23] but the cantonal government itself later announced its support in organising the event in Bern.[24] Meanwhile, Zurich's city council held a "high priority" meeting to discuss a bid.[25][26] On 14 May, Lausanne, which hosted the 1989 contest, ruled out a bid to host in 2025, citing a lack of infrastructure.[27] On 15 May, Biel/Bienne declared its interest to be associated with and co-host the event.[28] On 17 May, the local government of Fribourg stated that it was examining a potential bid.[29] On 5 June, the Basel-Stadt government confirmed that it would bid, proposing St. Jakobshalle and St. Jakob-Park as possible venues.[30] On 6 June, Biel/Bienne and Bern's municipalities announced a joint bid.[31][32] On 12 June, St. Gallen announced that it would not submit a bid due to not meeting the requirements to host the event.[33]The host broadcaster, the Swiss Broadcasting Corporation (SRG SSR), launched the bidding process on 27 May 2024, by issuing a list of requirements for interested cities.[34] Basel, Bern, Geneva, and Zurich officially declared their interest and finalised their bids on 28 June.[35][36] Representatives from the host broadcaster visited the four bidding cities in early July,[37][38] and shortlisted Basel and Geneva on 19 July.[39] On 30 August, the European Broadcasting Union (EBU) and SRG SSR announced Basel as the host city, with St. Jakobshalle as the chosen venue.[40][7] A referendum was held in November 2024 within the Basel-Stadt canton to approve the expenditure for organising the contest, which passed with the support of 66.6% of voters.[41]Key: Host city* Shortlisted^ Submitted a bidCityVenueNotesRef.BaselSt. Jakob-ParkHosted the 2016 UEFA Europa League final and will host matches of the UEFA Women's Euro 2025. The EBU issues invitations to participate in the contest to all members.On 12 December 2024, the EBU initially announced that broadcasters from 38 countries would participate in the 2025 contest. These include Montenegro, which is set to return after a two-year absence.[51] On 22 January 2025, Moldova announced its withdrawal, citing economic reasons and the quality of its national final, thereby reducing the number of participating countries to 37.[52]The contest features two returning artists for the same country: Justyna Steczkowska previously represented Poland in 1995,[53] and Nina ii appeared with Who See for Montenegro in 2013.[54] Steczkowska's return 30 years after her first appearance breaks the record for longest gap between two participations by the same artist, which was previously held by Anna Vissi with a gap of 24 years between her entries for Cyprus in 1982 and Greece in 2006.[55]Eurovision Song Contest 2025 participants[51][56]CountryBroadcasterArtistSongLanguageSongwriter(s)Ref.AlbaniaRTSHShkodra Elektronike"Zjerm"Albanian[c]Lek GjeloshiBeatrie GjergjiKol Laca[57]ArmeniaAMPTVParg"Survivor"EnglishBenjamin AlasuJon AljidiPeter BostrmJoshua CurranThomas G:sonMartin MooradianArmen PaulPargev VardanianEva VoskanianAlex Wilke[58]AustraliaSBSGo-Jo"Milkshake Man"EnglishJason BovinoAmy SheppardGeorge SheppardMarty Zambotto[59]AustriaORFJJ"Wasted Love"EnglishJohannes PietschTeodora piriThomas Thurner[60]AzerbaijanTVMamagama"Run with U"EnglishHasan HayadarSefael MishiyevRoman Zee[61]BelgiumVRTRed Sebastian"Strobe Lights"EnglishBillie Bentein[nl]Seppe HerremanAstrid RoelantsWillem Vanderstichele[62]CroatiaHRTMarko Bonjak"Poison Cake"EnglishMarko BonjakEmma GaleBen PyneBas Wissink[63]CyprusCyBCTheo Evan"Shh"EnglishLinda DaleDimitris KontopoulosLasse NymannElsa SllesvikElke Tiel[64]CzechiaTAdonxs"Kiss Kiss Goodbye"EnglishLorenzo CalvoMichaela CharvtovIns CoulonRonald JaneekGeorge Masters-ClarkAdam PavlovinAdriano Lopes da Silva[lb][65]DenmarkDRSissal"Hallucination"EnglishLinnea DebMelanie HayrapetianMalthe JohansenSissal Jhanna Norberg NiclasenChris Rohde-FriskLina SpangsbergMarcus Winther-John[da][66]EstoniaERRTommy Cash"Espresso Macchiato"Italian,[d] EnglishJohannes NaukkarinenTomas Tammemets[67]FinlandYleErika Vikman"Ich komme"FinnishChristel RoosbergJori Roosberg[fi][68]FranceFrance TlvisionsLouane"Maman"FrenchAnne PeichertTristan Salvati[69]GeorgiaGPBMariam Shengelia"Freedom"Georgian, EnglishKeti GabisianiBuka Kartozia[70]GermanyNDR[e]Abor & Tynna"Baller"GermanAttila BornemiszaTnde BornemiszaAlexander Hauer[73]GreeceERTKlavdia"Asteromata" ()GreekArcadeKlavdia Papadopoulou[74]IcelandRVVb"Ra"IcelandicGunnar Bjrn GunnarssonHlfdn Helgi MatthassonIngi r Gararsson[is]Matthas Dav Matthasson[75]IrelandRTEmmy"Laika Party"EnglishTruls Marius AarraEmmy Kristine Guttulsrud KristiansenErlend Guttulsrud KristiansenHenrik stlundLarissa Tormey[76]IsraelIPBCYuval Raphael"New Day Will Rise"English, French, HebrewKeren Peles[77]ItalyRAILucio Corsi"Volevo essere un duro"ItalianLucio CorsiTommaso Ottomano[78]LatviaLSMTautumeitas"Bur man laimi"LatvianLaura LcteElvis LintiAsnate Rancne[lv]Aurlija RancneGabrila Zvaigznte[79]LithuaniaLRTKatarsis"Tavo akys"LithuanianLukas Radzeviius[80]LuxembourgRTLLaura Thorn"La poupe monte le son"FrenchChristophe HoussinJulien SalviaLudovic-Alexandre Vidal[81]MaltaPBSMiriana Conte"Serving"EnglishMiriana ConteSarah Evelyn FullertonMatthew MercieciaBenjamin Schmid[82]MontenegroRTCGNina ii"Dobrodoli" ()MontenegrinDarko DimitrovVioleta Mihajlovska MiliBoris Suboti[sr][83]NetherlandsAVROTROSClaude"C'est la vie"French, EnglishClaude KiambeArno KrabmanLon Paul PalmenJoren van der Voort[84]NorwayNRKKyle Alessandro"Lighter"EnglishAdam AllskogKyle Alessandro Helgesen Villalobos[85]PolandTVPJustyna Steczkowska"Gaja"Polish, EnglishDominic Buczkowski-Wojtaszek[pl]Patryk Kumr[pl]Justyna SteczkowskaEmilian Waluchowski[pl][86]PortugalRTPNapa"Deslocado"PortugueseDiogo GisGuilherme GomesJoo Loureno GomesJoo RodriguesAndr SantosFrancisco Sousa[87]San MarinoSMRTVGabry Ponte[f]"Tutta l'Italia"ItalianAndrea Bonomo[it]Gabriele PonteEdwyn Roberts[it][89]SerbiaRTSPrinc"Mila" ()SerbianDuan Bai[sr][90]SloveniaRTVSLOKlemen"How Much Time Do We Have Left"EnglishKlemen Slakonja[91]SpainRTVEMelody"Esa diva"SpanishAlberto LoriteMeloda Ruiz Gutirrez[92]SwedenSVTKAJ"Bara bada bastu"Swedish[g]Axel hman[sv]Kevin Holmstrm[sv]Jakob Norrgrd[sv]Robert SkowronskiKristofer StrandbergAnderz Wrethov[93]SwitzerlandSRG SSRZo M"Voyage"FrenchZo KresslerEmily MiddlemasTom Oehler[94]UkraineSuspilneZiferblat"Bird of Pray"Ukrainian, EnglishFedir KhodakovDanylo LeshchynskyiValentyn Leshchynskyi[95]United KingdomBBCRemember Monday"What the Hell Just Happened?"EnglishJulie Aagaard[sv]Sam BrennanLauren ByrneTom HollingsHolly-Anne HullKes KamaraCharlotte SteeleThomas Stengaard[sv][96]The EBU member broadcasters in Andorra,[97] Bosnia and Herzegovina,[98] and Slovakia[99][100] confirmed non-participation prior to the announcement of the participants list by the EBU. North Macedonian broadcaster MRT discussed a potential return of the country to the contest, in response to an email from Eurovision fans urging the broadcaster to do so in October 2024;[101] North Macedonia ultimately did not appear on the final list of participants for 2025. Kosovar broadcaster RTK's general director Shkumbin Ahmetxhekaj sent a formal letter to the EBU in June 2024, requesting an invitation for Kosovo to debut in the contest in 2025;[102][103] this was rejected by the EBU's General Assembly in July 2024.[104][105]The Eurovision Song Contest 2025 is produced by the Swiss national broadcaster SRG SSR.[106] The Executive Council of Basel-Stadt contributes CHF35 million (approximately 37.3 million) to the budget of the contest.[14] The core team consists of Reto Peritz and Moritz Stadler as executive producers,[106] and Yves Schifferle as head of show. Repeating their function from the previous edition are Christer Bjrkman as head of contest, Tobias berg as head of production, and Robin Hofwander and Fredrik Bcklund as multi-camera directors,[3][4] with other production personnel including Nadja Burkhardt-Tracol as head of event, Manfred Winz as head of finance, Aurore Chatard as head of security, and Kevin Stuber as head of legal.[107][108] The theme art and background music's creation are overseen by art director Artur Deyneuve.[109]The contest's organisation is restructured for 2025; this was announced by the EBU on 1 July 2024, following a review into the controversies of the 2024 contest.[110] Two new positions were created: the ESC director and the commercial director, filled by Martin Green (managing director of the 2023 contest) and Jurian van der Meer, respectively;[5][111] Green would oversee the work of executive supervisor Martin sterdahl and Van der Meer.[112][113] In response to the circumstances that led to the disqualification of the 2024 Dutch entrant Joost Klein from that year's final, from 2025 onwards, no behind-the-scenes filming of the artists is permitted without prior approval from their delegations' head of press.[114] A set of conduct rules and duty of care guidelines is codified and made mandatory for all personnel working in the event.[115]On 16 December 2024, SRG SSR unveiled the theme art and stage design for the 2025 contest. The theme art, designed by the London-based agency Not Wieden+Kennedy and named "Unity Shapes Love", is built on variably-coloured miniatures of the "Eurovision heart" being arranged to emulate the halftone pixelation effect, symbolising millions of people unified by the Eurovision Song Contest, to listen and celebrate together.[116][117] The theme music, produced by MassiveMusic and titled "See You Radiate", features nods to Swiss traditional music and is adaptable for future editions.[118][119] Devised for the second year in a row by German production designer Florian Wieder, who had previously designed the sets of seven previous contests, the stage is inspired by Switzerland's mountains and linguistic diversity, highlighted by a central extension that extends into the standing audience area and surrounded by an LED arch.[109][120] On 26 February 2025, SRG SSR unveiled a mascot for the 2025 contest, in a first for the event since 1992. Named "Lumo" and designed by Lynn Brunner of the Basel Academy of Art and Design[de], it is an anthropomorphic heart shape with orange curly hair.[121]The "postcards" are short video introductions shown on television while the stage is being prepared for the next entry. Filmed between January and April 2025 and directed by Luca Zurfluh of Zurich-based production company Dynamic Frame, the postcards will feature the competing artists taking part in local activities across Switzerland.[122][123][124] The following locations will be used for each participating country:[125][126]Albania Basel, Basel-StadtArmenia Betlis, Canton of St. GallenAustralia Bern, Canton of BernAustria Emmental, Canton of BernAzerbaijan Zurich, Canton of ZurichBelgium Jungfraujoch, Valais and BernCroatia Zermatt, ValaisCyprus Basel, Basel-StadtCzechia Riburg[de], AargauDenmark Gruyres, FribourgEstonia Basel, Basel-StadtFinland Appenzell, Appenzell InnerrhodenFrance Ascona, TicinoGeorgia Geneva, Canton of GenevaGermany Basel, Basel-StadtGreece Peccia, TicinoIceland Rapperswil, St. GallenIreland CERN, Meyrin, Canton of GenevaIsrael Morcote, TicinoItaly Basel, Basel-StadtLatvia Zurich, Canton of ZurichLithuania Basel, Basel-StadtLuxembourg Rugisbalm[de], NidwaldenMalta Le Noirmont, Canton of JuraMontenegro Zurich, Canton of ZurichNetherlands Filisur, GrisonsNorway Egnach, ThurgauPoland Laax, GrisonsPortugal Lavaux, VaudSan Marino Bruzella, TicinoSerbia Vaz/Obervaz, GrisonsSlovenia Alp Raguta, GrisonsSpain Lucerne, Canton of LucerneSweden Magglingen, Canton of BernSwitzerland Basel, Basel-StadtUkraine Basel, Basel-StadtUnited Kingdom Zermatt, ValaisThe Swiss comedian Hazel Brugger and Sandra Studer who represented Switzerland in 1991 were announced as the presenters of the 2025 contest on 20 January 2025, and they will host all three shows of the event; Swiss-Italian television presenter Michelle Hunziker will join them for the final.[2] Jan van Ditzhuijzen and Tanja Dankner provided commentary for the "Turquoise Carpet" and opening ceremony events, with Jol von Mutzenbecher[de] welcoming the competing artists at the start of the carpet and Odette Hella'Grand[de] interviewing them at the end of the route.[127] The public screening of the final at St. Jakob-Park will be hosted by Sven Epiney and Mlanie Freymond[fr], both of whom will also announce the points of the Swiss jury from the stadium.[128]Results of the semi-final allocation drawParticipating countries in the first semi-finalPre-qualified for the final but also voting in the first semi-finalParticipating countries in the second semi-finalPre-qualified for the final but also voting in the second semi-finalThe draw to determine the participating countries' semi-finals took place on 28 January 2025 at 12:30 CET, at the Kunstmuseum Basel Auditoriuum.[129][130] The thirty-one semi-finalists were divided over five pots, based on historical voting patterns, with the purpose of reducing the chance of bloc voting and increasing suspense in the semi-finals. The draw also determined which semi-final each of the six automatic qualifiers host country Switzerland and "Big Five" countries (France, Germany, Italy, Spain and the United Kingdom) will vote in, be required to broadcast, and perform its entry in a non-competitive capacity.[129][131] The ceremony was hosted by Jennifer Bosshard and Jan van Ditzhuijzen,[132] and included the symbolic transfer of duties from Carina Nilsson, the president of previous host city Malm's council, to Conradin Cramer, the president of the Basel-Stadt government.[133] The host city insignia, which had traditionally been used since 2007, was replaced by a dress gifted by Nilsson to Cramer,[134] the first "friendship gift" that would replace the host city insignia from this year.[135]Pot 1Pot 2Pot 3Pot 4Pot 5BelgiumCzechiaEstoniaLatviaLithuaniaLuxembourgNetherlandsArmeniaAzerbaijanGeorgiaIsraelPolandUkraineAlbaniaAustriaCroatiaMontenegroSerbiaSloveniaCyprusGreeceIrelandMaltaPortugalSan

MarinoAustraliaDenmarkFinlandIcelandNorwaySwedenSee also: Eurovision Song Contest 2024 Enforcement of flag policyChanges to the flag policy for the 2025 contest were first published by Danish broadcaster DR on 25 April 2025.[136] Competing artists are only allowed to display their representative country's flag in official capacities including onstage, in the green room, Turquoise Carpet, and the Eurovision Village while the audience is allowed to display any flag permitted under Swiss law, including Pride flags, Palestinian flags, and European Union flags.[137][138] While accepting the policy, Dutch broadcaster AVROTROS stated that it would push for changes for the following year's contest;[139] the broadcaster had earlier met with LGBTQ+ advocacy group COC Nederland, which called the ban on Pride flags for competing artists "outrageously ridiculous".[140][141]Changes to the process of revealing the semi-final qualifiers were announced on 12 May 2025. For the first nine qualifiers, countries would be called in sets of three via split-screen, with one progressing to the final at a time. The final qualifier will be announced as all remaining acts are shown on screen.[142]In addition to the announced guest performers listed below, other confirmed artists with no designated show include Krij (Finland 2023) and Baby Lasagna (Croatia 2024).[143]The first semi-final took place on 13 May 2025 at 21:00 CEST.[144] Fifteen countries competed in the first semi-final. Those countries plus Italy, Spain and Switzerland, as well as non-participating countries under an aggregated "Rest of the World" vote, voted in this semi-final.[145] The running order (R/O) was determined by the contest producers and was announced publicly on 27 March. In addition to the competing entries, Spain, Italy and Switzerland performed their entries during the show, appearing on stage after the entries from Estonia, Belgium and Croatia, respectively.[146]This semi-final was opened by a troupe of dancers, yodelers and alphorn players performing Swiss-style renditions of four previous winning songs: "Tattoo" (2023), "Arcade" (2019), "Waterloo" (1974), and "The Code" (2024). The interval acts included "Made in Switzerland", a musical number performed by presenters Hazel Brugger and Sandra Studer which highlights and satirises Swiss stereotypes and inventions, with an appearance by Petra Mede, who previously hosted the contest in 2013, 2016 and 2024; and four former entrants from 2024 Marina Satti (Greece), Jerry Heil (Ukraine), Iolanda (Portugal) and Silvester Belt (Lithuania) performing the 1988 Swiss winning entry "Ne partez pas sans moi", preceded by a pre-recorded message from the song's original performer, Celine Dion. Jrgen Olsen[dk], who won for Denmark in 2000 alongside his brother Niels Olsen[dk], performed that year's winning song "Fly on the Wings of Love" after the qualifiers were announced, with lyrical changes referencing the contest's permanent slogan "United by Music".[147][148][149]QualifiersParticipants of the first semi-final of the Eurovision Song Contest 2025[150]R/OCountryArtistSong1IcelandVb"Ra"2PolandJustyna Steczkowska"Gaja"3SloveniaKlemen"How Much Time Do We Have Left"4EstoniaTommy Cash"Espresso Macchiato"5UkraineZiferblat"Bird of Pray"6SwedenKAJ"Bara bada bastu"7PortugalNapa"Deslocado"8NorwayKyle Alessandro"Lighter"9BelgiumRed Sebastian"Strobe Lights"10AzerbaijanMamagama"Run with U"11San MarinoGabry Ponte[f]"Tutta l'Italia"12AlbaniaShkodra Elektronike"Zjerm"13NetherlandsClaude"C'est la vie"14CroatiaMarko Bonjak"Poison Cake"15CyprusTheo Evan"Shh"The second semi-final will take place on 15 May 2025 at 21:00 CEST.[144] Sixteen countries will compete in the second semi-final. In addition to the competing entries, the United Kingdom, France and Germany will perform their entries during the show, appearing on stage after the entries from Austria, Georgia and Israel, respectively.[146]This semi-final will feature The Roop performing their intended entry for Lithuania in 2020, "On Fire", as an interval act.[151] Other 2020 participants expected to also perform their intended entry for that year's contest include Azerbaijan's Efendi with "Cleopatra", Malta's Destiny with "All of My Love", and Switzerland's Gjon's Tears with "Rpondez-moi".[152]Participants of the second semi-final of the Eurovision Song Contest 2025[153]R/OCountryArtistSong1AustraliaGo-Jo"Milkshake Man"2MontenegroNina ii"Dobrodoli"3IrelandEmmy"Laika Party"4LatviaTautumeitas"Bur man laimi"5ArmeniaParg"Survivor"6AustriaJJ"Wasted Love"7GreeceKlavdia"Asteromata"8LithuaniaKatarsis"Tavo akys"9MaltaMiriana Conte"Serving"10GeorgiaMariam Shengelia"Freedom"11DenmarkSissal"Hallucination"12CzechiaAdonxs"Kiss Kiss Goodbye"13LuxembourgLaura Thorn"La poupe monte le son"14IsraelYuval Raphael"New Day Will Rise"15SerbiaPrinc"Mila"16FinlandErika Vikman"Ich komme"The final will take place on 17 May 2025 at 21:00 CEST.[144] Twenty-six countries will participate in the final: the host country Switzerland, the "Big Five", and the ten best-ranked entries of each of the two semi-finals.
